JOHN STRANGE SAYS HE IS A CANDIDATE

Lieutenant Governor Declares He Will Make Run for Governor of Wisconsin Next Year

JUMPS OUT OF THE TRACES

Says He Has Not and Will Not Consult With Progressive Leaders to Secure Public Sentiment

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 15.—Lieut.-Governor John Strange of Neenah, has announced his candidacy for governor. He outlines in detail his position on public questions, appearing to make the state's rights in water powers his leading issue. He does not discuss the tariff question.

A few hours prior to the publication of his announcement, Mr. Strange was interviewed by the Journal, the progressive paper of Milwaukee, and answered some interesting questions, as follows:

Doesn't Figure Strength

"Have you consulted any of the other prospective candidates or their friends in order to ascertain who is the strongest man and endeavor to center all the Progressive strength on him?"

"No, I have not and I will not. I regard such a proceeding, or suggestion of it, as absolutely contrary to the spirit of the direct primary law. A man should consult no one but the voters. It is not a subject for conferences and caucuses. It is a matter for the common people to decide."

"Have you consulted the common people, Mr. Strange?"

"Yes; I have made quite an investigation."

"How do you find the sentiment?"

"I find they are discussing important issues, the great questions—"

"Oh no, Mr. Strange, I mean their sentiment about your candidacy and its timeliness?"

"Well, if I had not found the sentiment so very favorable, I would not have made up my mind to make the race. I am satisfied of enough support because of the position I hold on public questions, to justify my attitude."

"Will your announcement cover your position on these questions?"

"Yes."

Consulted No One

"But don't you think that your announcement, without any effort on your part to reach some agreement with other men mentioned for the honor, with a view to getting all factions together on some one strong man, yourself or some one else, tend to create a division in the ranks of the Progressives and probably defeat all of you? Don't you believe your hasty announcement will injure your cause and possibly change some of the sentiment now with you?"

"As I said before, the people are amply competent to decide this ques-

ROOSEVELT KING; MORRIS MAKES LAW; A CITIZEN ?—NIX ! !

That Theodore Roosevelt is king of the United States and that he makes all of the laws is the opinion of Hartvig Madson who aspires to citizenship in this land of freedom, and who yesterday made application to Judge Higbee for his final papers.

Madson got along all right until he was asked by the court, who rules the United States.

Then and there he fell down. "Ay tank he vas Teodor Roosenfeld vhat mak de law" he responded.

"But how about Wisconsin?" queeried the court.

"Oh, in Viskonsin et iss Tom Morris."

That settled it with the court. Hartvig's petition was adjourned for a week to give him a chance to study civil government.

LOCAL ENGRAVER WEDS WINONAN

Wm. Miller of La Crosse and Miss Mabel Blair of Winona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blair, were united in marriage Monday afternoon by Judge D. E. Vance at Winona. A wedding supper was served and a social evening was spent at the home of the bride's parents, 170 East Mark street, after which the couple left for a three weeks' trip in the east. They will make their home in La Crosse, where the groom is employed in the engraving business.

HE SUICIDES IN A CONFETTI STORM

THOUGHT HE WAS PLAYING

Revelers in Midnight Frolic Shower David W. Clark and Laugh at His Dying Agonies

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—David W. Clark, once a man of wealth, drank poison in the cafe of the Hotel Prince George at 1 a. m. today while halt a dozen young men from the Coney Island Mardi Gras scattered confetti in the room and shouted.

Clark, a man of 58, was formerly a manufacturer of varnish. He was in the habit of getting a midnight lunch at the hotel before retiring. Because of his large tips, the hotel attendants all liked him.

When he entered the hotel last night he had a bellboy bring him some stationary in the cafe and sat for some time writing, at the same time ordering a bottle of beer and a club sandwich. He poured a small quantity of liquid into the beer but did not drink it.

"Things have been breaking badly for me of late, but I guess they'll brighten up before long," he told the bartender. Just then the two automobiles drove up to the hotel and a number of young men laughing and singing entered the cafe. Hurling confetti and joking with all they passed, the young men surrounded Clark.

"They feel happy; I don't," he declared as he ordered a drink of whiskey, into which he poured more of the same liquid he had put into the beer. The men supposed it was medicine. He raised the glass to his lips and rose to his feet. The young men scattered confetti all over him and bound him with paper ribbons. Clark hesitated a second and then drained the glass. It fell from his hand and crashed on the floor. He sank to his knees. The youngsters thought he was playing a part and threw more confetti. Clarks plunged forward on his face. Before physicians arrived he was dead. The letter Clark had written was as follows:

"To the coroner of New York: Have taken cyanide of potasium. Reason, business failure and also failure of health. Please notify my brother, Dr. A. M. Clark, Alder Creek, Oneida county. If he is not at the above address he can be found at his home in Youngstown, Ohio.

"Please have my body prepared for cremation. (Signed)

"DAVID W. CLARK."

STATE RESTS CASE AGAINST MR. M'CANN

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Closely following a whirlwind finish by the state in the case of Inspector of Police Edward McCann, on trial for alleged bribery and malfeasance in office, the defense today made a motion before Judges Barnes that the case be taken from the jury.

A bomb shell was thrown into the trial late yesterday when Attorney John P. Tyrell, counsel for Max Plummer and others involved in the graft prosecution, testified under oath that Inspector McCann had asked him to shape his testimony by stretching his imagination to fit the plan of the defense.

Miss Frances Douglass, juvenile probation officer, declares she received a telephone message from a man unknown to her who threatened her in case she should testify in behalf of Inspector McCann.

That McCann will take the stand in his own behalf and deny all accusations against him was the announcement of his counsel this afternoon.

MARY HOLCOMB DENIES GUILT

Mary Holcomb, 16, charged with being immoral, was arrested and brought into county court today on complaint of her aunt. The girl entered a plea of not guilty and her case will be heard late this afternoon. She alleges that there is a conspiracy on foot to have her sent to the industrial school.

CLUE IN MILLMAN CASE

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—Peter F. Hayden, an engraver, has turned over to the prosecutor a comb and pair of gloves said to have been worn by Maybelle Millman, the murdered Ann Arbor student. It is stated that he got the articles from a young woman to whom they were given by a physician who said they would "never be needed again."

GROCERS JOIN IN PROTEST ON SALE

Association Adopts Resolutions Condemning Plan to Banish Competition

Several of the civic associations of La Crosse have in the past week, since the proposed merger between the La Crosse Telephone company and the Bell 'phone has been under consideration, passed resolutions endorsing the independent company and protesting against allowing the trust to gain a monopoly in this field. The Manufacturers' and Jobbers' club passed resolutions several days ago, and at its meeting Tuesday night resolutions were passed by the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association.

This action is in accordance with the policy of the Grocers' Association to support home industries.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, it is authoritatively stated that a proposition is being considered to consolidate the La Crosse Telephone company with the Bell Telephone system, and

"Whereas, the La Crosse Telephone company was organized by La Crosse citizens with La Crosse capital for the purpose of securing competition and giving to the citizens of La Crosse thereby lower rates and better service, and

"Whereas, the said La Crosse Telephone company has at all times given the highest standard of service at the lowest possible cost to its patrons; now therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the members of the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association, in meeting assembled, hereby protest against the proposed sale or consolidation, and appeal to the citizens who are stockholders of the La Crosse Telephone company, to oppose such sale or combination; and be it further

"Resolved, that we hereby extend our hearty support to the La Crosse Telephone company in case they remain independent in the field, and will in every honorable manner assist the said La Crosse Telephone company in its competitive operation against the Bell Telephone company

BAILEY TO REPLY TO ATTACK BY BRYAN

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 15.—Aroused by the challenge hurled at Texas democracy and the veiled attack against himself by Wm. Jennings Bryan in his speeches yesterday, United States Senator Jos. Bailey today announced that he will take up the gauntlet thrown down by the Nebraskan.

At one point in his speech Bryan said: "Texas democrats smell kerosene so far they are afraid to take the duty off it or other raw materials."

Everyone in the audience knew he referred to Senator Bailey and his recent mixup with the Standard Oil company.

JOHN A. JOHNSON OPERATED UPON

Minnesota's Governor Rallies Quickly After the Knife Is Used Upon Him for Fourth Time

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 15.—Governor John A. Johnson has undergone his fourth operation for intestinal troubles and rallied quickly from the effects of the surgery, according to the bulletin just issued from St. Mary's hospital, where the operation was performed at about 9:30 this morning. The governor enjoyed a good night's rest and conditions were deemed propitious this morning for the operation. There never had been any doubt in the minds of the governor or the Doctors Mayo, the surgeons, that he would come through successfully. Mrs. Johnson was likewise confident when she was seen at 9 o'clock.

While all danger is not yet passed the governor's condition at this hour is said to promise a rapid and complete recovery.

PEARY WON'T TELL HOW COOK CHEATED

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Polar scientists are today commenting on the interview given out by Commander Peary at Battle Harbor last night in which he declined to add more details to his previous story of his dash to the pole or to say anything more regarding his controversy with Dr. Cook.

Cook's adherents here are bitter in their denunciation of Peary for his refusal to give out the information he claims to have to substantiate his claim that Dr. Cook did not reach the pole.

DEFENDS HIMSELF WITH A JACKKNIFE

Gustave Kirbich Drew Weapon When Set Upon by Three Men at Ten-Mile House

RICHARD KAISER BADLY HURT

Only Intervention of His Ribs Saved Blade from Penetrating the Heart

Assaulted by three men in a roadhouse in the town of Shelby known as the "Ten Mile House" last night, Gustave Kirbich, a young man residing near the saloon drew his jackknife and fought valiantly in his own defense. As a result of his prowess with the weapon Richard Kaiser is now in a serious condition with two knife wounds in his breast and Kirbich is at the county jail awaiting arraignment on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, without regard to human life.

The fracas occurred shortly after 6 o'clock when young Kirbich entered the saloon through the front door. He claims that he was no sooner inside than three of the men present, one of whom was Kaiser, assaulted him at once and that he drew his knife as a last resort to defend himself. No one was cut except Kaiser, and Dr. Dvorak who is attending him says that the victim had a narrow escape as the wounds are just over his heart. Had the blade gone between his ribs instead of being stopped by these he would surely have been killed.

Sheriff William Duncan and a man from Central police station went to the Kirbich farm last night and arrested Kaiser's assailant. He was was brought to this city and is now in jail until bail can be secured for him.

Kirbich has retained Attorneys Morris and Hartwell, and will enter a plea of not guilty when he is arraigned in county court late this afternoon.

The "Ten Mile House" is the last saloon on the road leading out from this city and is conducted by William Proksch.

Gustave Kirbich was taken into court this afternoon and bail was fixed at $2,000. An examination will be held Sept. 27th.

AUSTRIA ARRESTS ITALIAN AERONAUTS

ROME, Sept. 15.—Commander Borsalino of the Italian navy and Signor Uouelli and Nicoli, two of the best known aeronauts in Italy, were arrested in Austria today at the completion of one of the most daring balloon flights on record, a flight from Venice across the Adriatic sea to Austria.

Details of the arrest have not yet been received but it is believed today they are charged with being military spies.

These aeronauts had long contemplated a trip across the Adriatic and they made the ascent at Venice when the wind was blowing straight to sea. The flight covered more than 100 miles.

ANOTHER AMERICAN A PRINCE'S BRIDE

DINGWALL, Scotland, Sept. 15.—Another American heiress joined the ranks of the European nobility at noon today when Miss Anita Stewart of New York, daughter of Mrs. James Henry Stewart, was married to the Prince de Braganza, son of the pretender to the Portuguese throne.

It was the first "royal wedding" celebrated in Scotland since the days of Mary Queen of Scats and the little St. Lawrence Roman Catholic church, where the nuptials were celebrated, was the scenes of its most historic function.

Among the wedding presents, the total of which was several hundred thousand dollars, was the patent from Emperor Franz Josef, creating the bride a princess in her own right. This was not intended by the emperor as a wedding present but the bride so cherished it.

WANTS PERMIT OF "CURLEW" REVOKED

NOW SHIPPED BROADCAST

Money Intended for Wardens' Use Being Handled by "Jim" Nevins, Is Charge Made

Letters are being prepared to be addressed to Governor James O. Davidson, asking that the permit issued by the governor to the commander and crew of the government fisheries steamer Curlew to seine land locked waters of Wisconsin for bass minnows be revoked. The demand will be based upon the claim that the fry is now being taken from the Mississippi river as well as land locked waters, and instead of being replaced in the Mississippi or other open streams, is being shipped broadcast over the United States to the detriment of Wisconsin sportsmen.

Harry L. Starr, formerly a resident of Cassville, Wis., and a prominent member of a strong organization there for the protection of fish and game, present proprietor of the Mecca buffet, is one of the leaders in the movement to save the fish for Wisconsin waters.

Mr. Starr is in communication with Deputy State Game Warden A. E. Storrs of Fennimore, near Cassville, and has communicated his ideas to Game Warden George L. Kingsley of this city.

Permit Is Violated.

It is the contention of Mr. Starr that the government fisheries crew operating the Curlew fail to confine themselves to the seining of land locked waters, and that fish are taken from the open river and from the bars in Lake Pepin, canned and shipped from La Crosse to Madison, South Dakota, New York state and various other scattered points. These shipments, it is claimed, are made through the office of State Fish Commissioner James Nevins, and Mr. Starr is trying to have some of the authority wrested from this official.

Money in Wrong Hands.

Mr. Starr is one of the fathers the Owen bill passed by the last legislature appropriating $4,500 annually to be turned over to the game wardens for the purpose of rescuing bass fry. Ten thousand was asked for and the original bill provided the fish be restored to the Mississippi

REV. BURGESS IS ZION LECTURER

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—Rev. Dr. William Burgess of La Crosse is the first lecturer to appear before a Zion City audience who was not endorsed by Dowie or his successor. Rev. Burgess lectured last night on the Bible and Shakespeare and his appearance was something of an innovation against the old Dowie autocratic ruling which shut out from Zion City all public teaching not endorsed by himself of his successor.

Dr. Burgess is author of "The Bible in Shakespeare" and other works which are taking high rank in the literary world. "But for the Bible there could never have been a Shakespeare," is one of the interesting statements made by Rev. Burgess last night.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Anti-Dowie section which is now most influential and in control of the city government against Voliva. Overseer Daniel Bryant entertained the lecturer and presided at the lecture.

TAFT SPECIAL IS ON THE WAY TODAY

President Begins Tour That Will Bring Him to La Crosse Late Friday Afternoon

WAVES GOODBY TO CROWD

Throngs Cheer Him as Train Pulls Out—Thursday in Chicago First Big Day

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Amid the tumultuous cheering of thousands assembled to witness his departure, President Taft started on his 13,000 mile journey to the west and southwest at 10:30 this morning, leaving the south station in his private car Mayflower, attached to the regular Albany express. The train was composed besides the private car of the president, occupied by himself and his military aid, Captain Butt, of the parlor car, Helemere, containing the rest of the president's party, of a steel baggage car, the private car of Assistant General Manager Eustis of the New York Central and a day coach. As the train drew out of the station the president appeared upon the rear platform and waved a hearty good bye and good luck to the multitude gathered in the station. During the two months life on the rails, the president's comfort will be looked after by Porter W. S. Anderson, Waiter E. B. Letcher and Chef M. A. Anderson, the latter a Norwegian culinary expert in the employ of John Hayes Hammond and loaned to the president as a special mark of friendship. Anderson the porter and Letcher, the waiter have already traveled a number of thousand miles with the president on previous trips.

Although no formal program is arranged for before he reaches Chicago on Thursday, it is probable he will make brief addresses at the various cities through which he passes.

TIGER AT LARGE IN HEART OF BIG CITY

MARSEILLES, Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt is missing the chance of his life today by not being here to take part in a tiger hunt now in progress in the she part of the city. The tigress, a royal Bengal, escaped from its cage aboard a vessel in the harbor yesterday, leaped to the gang plank reached the shore and escaped among the nearby buildings.

Residents of that part of the city were in terror through the night as the animal was frequently heard to roar as though in quest of prey.

Today soldiers and police formed a solid cordon about the district in which the tigress is supposed to be hiding.

The Detroit Americans threw away three chances to score runs early in the game by the worst sort of base running and handed the game to St. Louis. Both pitchers did good work, Bradley holding the champions down in the face of poor support. Three hits, bunched in the ninth, scored for the Browns and decided it.

Chicago and Cleveland played a six inning 4 to 4 tie, rain stpoping it after Cleveland had scored one run in the seventh. The rain, however, caused the score to revert to the end of the sixth. Ables, a recruit from San Antonio, pitched well for Cleveland, and would have won but for the errors behind him.

Boston won the second game of the series from Washington, 5 to 2. Boston tied the score in the fourth and won in the sixth on two singles and a two bagger.

Egan made that in the fifth inning and was doubled up with Lobert a moment later.

Gasper for the Reds was effective in all but one inning, but then the Cubs hit him hard enough to make four runs, aided Egan's fumble. The game was played in the remarkable fast time of 1 hour and 20 minutes.

In a pitchers' battle between Rucker and Moore Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia by to 0. Moore had previously won nine straight games. Burch scored the only run of the gam in the first inning on a base on balls, Wheat's beating out a bunt, Downey's sacrifice and Dooin's muff of Titus' throw to the plate on Hummel's sacrifice fly.

An error by Meyers, and Marquard's poor work in the third inning gave Boston two runs and the game. Two hits gave the Bean Eaters another run in the seventh. The New York players were unable to hit Brown when men were on the bases.

GIVES NERVES REMARKABLE VIGOR

Electropodes, A Wonderful, Simple Device to Produce Astonishing Nerve Strength

How Any Man or Woman Can Get and Use Them

There is no more excuse for any man or woman suffering from nervous exhaustion, run-down condition, weak nerves, lack of ambition or energy. A wonderfully simple device, called Electropodes, is now designed to supply all the strength necessary to render the nerves strong and vigorous without having to resort to temporary stimulants, tonics or medicines of any kind.

Electropodes are not an experiment; that they produce results which can be quickly felt and even seen in an improved condition of the general system is the emphatic statement of those who have used them.

Electropodes represent a distinct advance in the application of electricity for the cure of diseases. They are reported to have a remarkable effect not only upon the nerves, but also upon the kidneys, stomach and liver, being an exceptional remedy for kidney troubles, stomach and liver derangements, neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, insomnia and weak heart.

Electropodes are metallic insoles so placed in the heels of the shoes as to be unnoticeable to the wearer. By contact with the body it is stated they electrify and invigorate every fibre, organ, nerve, and blood vessel and the condition of the system quickly changes for the better.

Electropodes are never uncomfortable, yet you feel a mighty change and increased power creeping upon you.

To prove that these statements are not in the least exaggerated The Electropode Company, of Lima, Ohio, has your druggist sign a contract that if you are not satisfied with the Electropodes at the end of 30 days' trial, you can have your money right back.

Electropodes are sold at drug stores at $1.00 a pair under contract to satisfy you. If your druggist does not have Electropodes on hand, send your remittance to the Electropode Co., Suite 17 Holland Block, Lima, Ohio, and you will get them by return mail with our contract binding us to completely satisfy you within 30 days, or positively refund your money. Say whether for lady or gentleman.

EDDIE KONETCHY NOW BATTING .394

Eddie Konetchy of this city is slowly but surely increasing his batting average until now he ranks seventh in the National league. According to the percentage issued yesterday Eddie is hitting the ball at the rate of .394, which is an increase of .014 since the last compilation of the averages about three weeks ago. Eddie leads the league with the total number of three base hits having annexed a sum of 13 triples. He has also 17 twobaggers and 4 home runs. Eddie also ranks seventh in the list of leading run getters having a total of 71 runs in 175 games.

At the present time Hoblitzel the Cincinnati first sacker is the leading batter in the National league with an average of .468, a remarkable record. Wagner of Pitsburg is a close second with 464.

CHICAGO SQUAD OUT STAGG OPTIMISTIC

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Coach A. A. Stagg arrived at Chicago university with some strenuous plan for starting the football season of 1909. The Maroon general has been in the far west and declares from a bird's eye view the gridiron outlook is "fair."

Stagg issued a call today for every member of the squad to put in appearance Monday and intimated that the stiffest kind of work would be tackled right from the start. Nine "C" men are lined up and while some of the likely candidates did not return to school, Stagg is not downcast over his collection of "subs."

Stagg thinks that his games at the very outset of the season when Chicago plays Purdue and Indiana, will furnish a convincing line on just what the glory of the university has to depend upon on the gridiron this year.

Striking Indian Nomenclature.

"Muskoka," Clear Sky Land; "Maganetewan," Smooth Flowing Water; "Kawartha," Bright Water and Happy Lands; "Temagami," Deep Water; "Wawa," The Flying Goose; are Indian words that fittingly describe some of the most delightful spots for a summer's outing on the American continent. All reached at special low round trip fares via Grand Trunk Railway System. Double track from Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Particulars of fares, descriptive literature, time tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to W. S. Cookson, A. G. P. A., 135 Adams street, Chicago.

LANGFORD FEARS STANLEY KETCHEL

NORTHBORO, Mass., Sept. 15.—Satisfied that in meeting Stanley Ketchel on Friday night he will be up against one of the hardest fights of his career, Sam Langford is training here today as he has never trained before. With Geo. Baers, as his sparring partner, the Boston black is hustling over the roads and bending to his indoor work with vim. Never, according to those who have watched his work, has Langford been in better shape and if he is not the victor on Friday night it will be simply because the "Michigan assassin" can show superior speed and stamina.

WRESTLER ARRESTED FOR WIFE DESERTION

CHICAGO, Sept. 15—Old Man Law got a half Nelson on Frank Parker, the wrestler, here today for deserting his wife in Toledo, Ohio, and the mat artist is a prisoner at Central station. He was arrested on complaint of the Toledo police who charged that he deserted his wife and baby two months ago. Officers from Toledo sent word that they would come to Chicago for their prisoner today. Parker announced a few days ago that he intended challenging Frank Gotch, the American champion.

WOODBURY writes about His Famous HAIR TONIC

Extract from an article written by the Master Dermatologist when Woodbury's combination Hair and Scalp Treatment was first successfully prepared for Home Use.

"The formula under which this Hair Tonic is made was tested and improved for over thirty-five years before a bottle was sold through the stores."

"For over thirty-five years this Tonic has been used in the enormous practice of John H. Woodbury's Dermatological Institute."

"Millions of cases were treated, and after their cure the patients continued the use of this Tonic as a delightful refreshment to the scalp and to keep the hair soft, rich and glossy."

"This necessarily meant repeated calls at the Woodbury Institute, often at the inconvenience of patients living at a distance."

"To supply this demand, and the growing call from those who had not been treated, for a Hair Tonic which was scientifically successful (not a mere commercial product) this Tonic has now been put on the market and can hereafter be had from all reputable dealers."

If you don't see Woodbury's face on the label it's an imitation.

Now, right in your own home, you can use the preparations formerly supplied only to office patients of the Institute. No other preparations for the Hair and Scalp are backed up by the same unlimited experience. No others give such quick and such satisfactory results.

Woodbury's Hair Tonic saves the hair when all other preparations fail. It prevents dandruff; stops falling hair, and instantly relieves itching scalp. It restores the lustre to the hair; preserves it's natural color; increases its vitality and makes it beautiful and abundant.

Everyone Endorses Woodbury's

Hair Now Growing Nicely.

My hair stopped falling out just as soon as I used the Woodbury's Scalp Cream in conjunction with the Scalp Cleaner. It's action was just like magic. The thick greasy dandruff is all gone. My hair is growing nicely and taking on a new growth. Your Hair Tonic I use night and morning, and it is the nicest hair dressing I have ever used. Thanking you for the letters of advice, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
Mrs. JOHN F. HOWSON,
498 Quincy Street, Brooklyn.

This Specialist Uses Woodbury's

After ten years of careful study, and close observation of all conditions of the hair and scalp, I find the Woodbury method of treatment most successful of all. It is based on the most correct scientific principles. In cases of scalp disease the Woodbury preparations go right to the root of the trouble, and their curative and stimulating properties are remarkable. Am now using them exclusively in my offices and the results obtained are most satisfactory.
JAMES B. QUINN,
Hair and Scalp Specialist,
Monolith Building, New York City

Quick Results Pleased Him.

The dandruff and itching scalp were terrible and my hair was thinning out over the temples and at the back of my head at an alarming rate. Nothing seemed to help until I used the Woodbury remedies, but good results were then noticed from the start, and in a few days the dandruff was entirely gone and new hairs began to show. What pleased me most was that results were so quick. The Woodbury Hair and Scalp Remedies certainly make the hair grow.
Yours very truly,

ATTELL DISGUSTS BOSTON FIGHT FANS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Abe Attell, world's champion featherweight, is in no good odor today with the Boston fight fans. In his fight with Tommy O'Toole last night, there was no doubt that he could have put out the Philadelphia boy at any stage, but foxy Abe stalled along and the two burlesqued through a long and wearysome twelve rounds.

O'Toole could not box in the same class with Attell, but yhat real fighting there was, he made.

OPEN CHICAGO GOLR TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—According to the pairings in the western open golf championship which begins at Skookie tomorrow, John Croke and Paul Kirchner start first at 9 o'clock. Others will leave at five minute intervals. Western Champion Will C. Anderson of St. Louis has the honor of being paired with National Champion Geo. Sargent. Lawrence Auchterionie of Glenview and Frederick McLeod, former national champions, will play together. Gardner holds the record, 69 strokes at Skookie. Of those who practiced over the course, Robert Simpson of Milwaukee, former title holder has low score.

SPOTLIGHTS

YANKEE DOODLE CO. POPULAR

Last night a large audience saw the Yankee Doodle players present the farce comedy, "Hello Bill" and the general concensus of opinion seems to be that the company's interpretation of this funny piece is away above the standard companies. The situations in the play are refreshing and grow funnier with every new complication that confronts the characters in their vain attempts to escape from the difficulty which was in itself very trifling compared with the tangle of trouble that followed their attempts to conceal it from their friends. There is not a dull moment in the piece nor a word or hint that is in the least suggestive. The fun is fast, clean and hilarious, particulary at the climaxes, making "Hello Bill" a rarety among farce comedies.

The play for tonight, "The Queen of The White Slaves" is founded upon an actual story of the kidnaping of a white girl in San Francisco by a notorious Chinese Slave Dealer assisted by the once famous cadets of that city's underground underworld, and which occurence is known in international diplomatic circles as the Elsie Johnson incident is one of the most startling realistic stage stories that have been written, and as produced by the Yankee Doodle Company with special scenery and effects and from the original manuscript of the play offers to the La Crosse Theater patrons what is perhaps the most powerful and gripping melodrama ever seen in this city.

The rendezvous of the Terrible Nine in the third act, with its wierd gloom, the burning joss sticks, the flaming furnace of the torture chamber and the gong of death, all presided over by Fong Low, the sardonic chief of the shrouded members of the council whose heartless cruelty stands out in terrible relief against the beauty and distress of his heart broken victim, makes a stage picture, the equal of which has seldom been painted by a playwright.

A strong line of comedy relieves the tense seriousness of the piece and contributes to it that proportion of light and shade that is necessary to the successful modern melodrama, and as usual a complete change of vaudeville and orchestral numbers will attend the production of the piece.

On Thursday night, the bill will be a comedy drama in four acts entitled, "Canny's Cross Roads."

"Lena Rivers"

Announcement that "Lena Rivers" will be offered at the La Crosse Theater next Sunday afternoon and evening, naturally brings a throb of joy to the hearts of playgoers. The book of the same name from which Beulah Poynter made her dramatization is by Mrs. Mary J. Holmes which assures a first class play with plenty of comedy and a profusion of tears. A crowded house is almost a certainty.

Mrs. Carter Monday

After booking a road tour and announcements being made in the various cities of coming engagement several different times during the past three years, which were afterwards cancelled to permit extensions of time in New York, Chicago and Boston, Mrs. Leslie Carter announces that she will positively appear at the La Crosse Theater, Monday Sept. 20. Mrs. Carter comes to this city under her own management, presenting herself in a mammoth production of a new poetical drama called "Kassa," by John Luther Long. It requires six of the largest baggage cars to transport the scenery and effects and more than one hundred people are employed in the presentation. The extravagance with which Mrs. Carter has mounted the play even astonished New Yorkers. She designed and supervised the preparation of the entire production herself and it is credited by many who witnessed it at the Liberty Theater in New York with being the most complete and perfect display of stagecraft ever presented in this country.

Mary's Lamb Sept. 23

When he comes to the La Crosse Theater Thursday, Sept. 23, Richard Carle will "present himself" in his newest musical comedy success "Mary's Lamb." As was the case with all his previous plays, "Mary's Lamb" is from Mr. Carle's own fountain pen—only in this instance he has utilized a French farce as the basis of his plot. The elongated comedian has the role of a hen-pecked husband. In his support are Julia Ralph, Adele Archer, Sylvian Langlois, George Gogues, Abbott Adams and others, including a wonderfully agile and pretty chorus.

GET BUSY AND WIN "LO" PRIZE.

The "Lo" puzzle contest begins today.

You will find the first section of figures in this issue, which you are to cut out and save. Tomorrow and on the five succeeding nights cut out the remainder of the portions and you will have taken the first step towards winning the first nine sets of prizes, offered by The Tribune.

The contest is open to all readers of The Tribune. No two prizes will be delivered to the same family, nor to any one connected with this paper, the theater or the "Lo" company. The first nine on the ground will get the trophies, so return your solutions to The Tribune as soon as possible.

The Interesting "Lo" Puzzle, Section 1

Conditions of Contest

There are six sections of irregular figures, which when cut out and placed in their proper condition, will form a beautiful group picture of the principals and chorus of the Franklin P. Adams, O. Henry and A. Baldwin Sloan collaboration "Lo" which comes to the La Crosse theater, matinee and night, Saturday, Sept. 25th.

Paste neatly on cardboard and return to contest editor of The Tribune as soon as possible. For the first nine sets of correct answers received, The Tribune will distribute seats. Without all the sections the puzzle cannot be solved. Each participant must write his or her complete name on the back of the complete puzzle and send to contest editor with a self addressed envelope, stamped.

As the replies are received they will be numbered and the rewards be as follows: To the first two correct replies, two box seats each; to the next three correct replies, two orchestra seats each; to the next four, one seat each. The winners' names with the complete puzzle will appear in The Tribune on Friday, Sept. 24th.

THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

By Mary Roberts Rinehart (Copyright.)

Liddy was sleeping the sleep of the just when I went up-stairs, and I hunted out my things cautiously. The detective was waiting in the hall, and I was astonished to see Doctor Stewart with him. They were talking confidentially together, but when I came down they ceased. There were a few preparations to be made: the locks to be gone over, Winters to be instructed as to renewed vigilance, and then, after extinguishing the hall light, we crept in the darkness, through the front door, and into the night.

I asked no questions. I felt that they were doing me honor in making me one of the party, and I would show them I could be as silent as they. We went across the fields, passing through the woods that reached almost to the ruins of the stable, going over stiles now and then, and sometimes stepping over low fences. Once only somebody spoke, and then it was an emphatic bit of profanity from Doctor Stewart when he ran into a wire fence.

We were joined at the end of five minutes by another man, who fell into step with the doctor silently. He carried something over his shoulder which I could not make out. In this way we walked for perhaps twenty minutes. I had lost all sense of direction; I merely stumbled along in silence, allowing Mr. Jamieson to guide me this way or that as the path demanded. I hardly know what I expected. Once, when through a miscalculation I jumped a little short over a ditch and landed above my shoe-tops in the water and ooze, I remember wondering if this were really I, and if I had ever tasted life until that summer. I walked along with the water sloshing in my boots, and I was actually cheerful. I remember whispering to Mr. Jamieson that I had never seen the stars so lovely, and that it was a mistake, when the Lord had made the night so beautiful, to sleep through it!

The doctor was puffing somewhat when we finally came to a halt. I fess that just at that minute even Sunnyside seemed a cheerful spot. We had paused at the edge of a level cleared place, bordered all around with primly trimmed evergreen trees. Between them I caught a glimpse of starlight shining down on rows of white headstones and an occasional more imposing monument, or towering shaft. We were on the edge of the Casanova churchyard.

I saw now both the man who had joined the party and the implements he carried. It was Alex, armed with two long-handled spades. After the first shock of surprise, I flatter myself I was both cool and quiet. We went in single file between the rows of headstones, and although, when I found myself last, I had an instinctive desire to keep looking back over my shoulder, I found that, the first uneasiness past, a cemetery at night is much the same as any other country place, filled with vague shadows and unexpected noises. Once, indeed—but Mr. Jamieson said it was an owl, and I tried to believe him.

In the shadow of the Armstrong granite shaft we stopped. I think the doctor wanted to send me back.

"It's no place for a woman," I heard him protesting angrily. But the detective said something about witnesses, and the doctor only came over and felt my pulse.

"Anyhow, I don't believe you're any worse off here than you would be in that nightmare of a house," he said finally, and put his coat on the steps of the shaft for me to sit on.

There is an air of finality about a grave; one watches the earth thrown in, with the feeling that this is the end. Whatever has gone before, whatever is to come in eternity, that particular temple of the soul has been given back to the elements from which it came. Thus, there is a sense of desecration, of a reversal of the everlasting fitnes of things, in resurrecting a body from its mother clay. And yet that night, in the Casanova churchyard, I sat quietly by, and watched Alex and Mr. Jamieson steaming over their work, without a single qualm, except the fear of detection.

The doctor kept a keen lookout, but no one appeared. Once in a while he came over to me, and gave me a reassuring pat on the shoulder.

"I never expected to come to this," he said once. "There's one thing sure—I'll not be suspected of complicity. A doctor is generally supposed to be handier at burying folks than at digging them up."

The uncanny moment came when Alex and Jamieson tossed the spades on the grass, and I confess I hid my face. There was a period of stress, I think, while the heavy coffin was being raised. I felt that my composure was going, and, for fear I would shriek, I tried to think of something else—what time Gertrude would reach Halsey—anything but the grisly reality that lay just beyond me on the grass.

And hen I heard a low exclamation from the detective and I felt the pressure of the doctor's fingers on my arm.

"Now, Miss Innes," he said gently. "If you will come over—"

I held on to him frantically, and somehow I got there and looked down. The lid of the casket had been raised and a silver plate on it proved we had made no mistake. But the face that showed in the light of the lantern was a face I had never seen before. The man who lay before us was not Paul Armstrong!

CHAPTER XXXI.
Between Two Fireplaces.

What with the excitement of the discovery, the walk home under the stars in wet shoes and draggled skirts, and getting up-stairs and undressed without rousing Liddy, I was completely used up. What to do with my boots was the greatest puzzle of all, there being no place in the house safe from Liddy, until I decided to slip up-stairs the next morning and drop them into the hole the "ghost" had made in the trunk-room wall.

I went asleep as soon as I reached this decision, and in my dreams I lived over again the events of the night. Again I saw the group around the silent figure on the grass, and again, as had happened at the grave, I heard Alex's voice, tense and triumphant:

"Then we've got them," he said. Only, in my dreams, he said it over and over until he seemed to shriek it in my ears.

I wakened early, in spite of my fatigue, and lay there thinking. Who was Alex? I no longer believed that he was a gardener. Who was the man whose body we had resurrected? And where was Paul Armstrong? Probably living safely in some extraditionless country on the fortune he had stolen. Did Louise and her mother know of the shameful and wicked deception? What had Thomas known, and Mrs. Watson? Who was Nina Carrington?

This last question, it seemed to me, was answered. In some way the woman had learned of the substitution, and had tried to use her knowledge for blackmail. Nina Carrington's own story died with her, but, however it happened, it was clear that she had carried her knowledge to Halsey the afternoon Gertrude and I were looking for clues to the man I had shot on the east veranda. Halsey had been half crazed by what he heard; it was evident that Louise was marrying Doctor Walker to keep the shameful secret, for her mother's sake. Halsey, always reckless, had gone at once to Doctor Walker and denounced him. There had been a scene, and he left on his way to the station to meet and notify Mr. Jamieson of what he had learned. The doctor was active mentally and physically. Accompanied perhaps by Riggs, who had shown himself not overscrupulous until he quarreled with his employer, he had gone across to the railroad embankment, and, by jumping in front of the car, had caused Halsey to swerve. The rest of the story we knew.

That was my reconstructed theory of that afternoon and evening; it was almost correct—not quite.

BLOWS UP FRIEND LIKE A BALLOON

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—With his body blown to an enormous size, John Mis Miscoho of Whiting, Ind., is dying in a local hospital as the result of a "practical joke" played upon him by his friend, Michael Yokish. A warrant charging murder has been sworn out for Yokish.

The two men were employed by the Standard Oil company at Whiting. They were joking when Yokish laughingly seized an airhose having 110 pounds of pressure to the inch and pointed it at Miscoho. turning open the stopcock. The force of the air tore away Miscoho's intestines and inflated his whole body horribly.

Number 6085

Mr. Richard Gunn, who has recently secured an excellent poston as assistant Roadmaster for the Southern Pacific Railroad, Los Angeles, Cal.

Richard is an old La Crosse boy and is certainly making good. We believe that young people in selecting a business school should select a school which offers you the proof of what it is doing. For three years we have published the names of the graduates whom we are sending to positions. Why can't we have your name on our list next year? Prospects of the W. B. U. were never brighter, both for attendance and the success of its graduates. The numerous competitors of the W. B. U. have circulated many false and malicious statements. The W. B U. was never stronger financially, never had a stronger faculty, and its graduates were never in greater demand than today. We respectfully refer you to the National bank, Security Savings bank, State bank and the Batavian National bank as to our financial responsibility and the work of our school. We suggest that you make the same inquiry concerning other schools. The following are a few things the W. B. U. has which you will not find in other schools: Complete banking department, having more than $200,000 in college currency used in the handling of its business; complete loose leaf ledger equipments; Burrough's adding machine; duplicating machines of the latest type; 6085 graduates in positions; 500 students located the past year. Ask any responsible business man what business school to attend. If you are interested, address the Wisconsin Business University, La Crosse, Wis.

OUR GREAT NORMAL

It is doubtful if any normal school ever started out with brighter prospects than has the La Crosse normal. It holds the record for first attendance, it has a fine field, it has splendid building and equipment and grounds that will become delightful, it is situated in a thriving, live community whose people have great pride in the school and its work.

But that which gives more promise than the mere physical advantages of the school is its splendid organization. In both attainments and efficiency the faculty is pronounced to be of unusually high standard, and the promptness with which they have turned the institution into a working concern operating with the finish and precision that usually comes only with long establishment shows how well they know their business. The people of La Crosse will find pleasure in contemplating the initial succes of the normal, and will join with Secretary Kittle in congratulating President Cotton upon the splendid beginning that has been made.

A LITTLE BIT STRANGE

The announcement of Lieut. Gov. John Strange that he will be a candidate for governor was not entirely unexpected, but it will be received with some misgiving by many leading progressives on the ground that he is not the choice of a majority of his faction. It will be felt that his interruption of a deliberate plan to sound public sentiment with the purpose of avoiding a split in the progressive ranks was unwise, and that the Oshkosh man may later regret his hasty action.

How the step of Mr. Strange will affect the other tentative candidates is uncertain. The probability is, however, they will proceed to determine by some sound means who is the strongest man before the people, and that unless Mr. Strange is found to be that man, the party will unite upon another candidate.

At a baseball game between the "Fats" and the "Leans" at Waconia, a baserunner collided with a baseman so that both were injured. While portliness may be a handicap to a baserunner a little padding is sometimes advisable.

The investigating committee was investigated and found wanting. Now who'll suggest investigating the investigators because they didn't investigate the statutes before they began to investigate?

Four cows at Osakis broke out of their pasture into a neighbors cornfield and ate themselves to death. Osakis cows are not up to the Minnesota standard for company manners.

Big Stone, S. D., has secured a large factory at which all kinds of boats and launches will be built. Big Stone is not the kind of rolling stone that gathers no moss.

Cashton is to dedicate a new municipal building and light plant to cost $18,000. This is but one example of the thrift of towns in the vicinity of La Crosse.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nine people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Samose, the great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it any nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat, and which does not build up good healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a nautral manner, and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, O. T. Erhart will return your money without any quibbling.

THE EDITOR ANALYZED

If Webster had ever worked for an Editor he could never define him without using cuss words. The Editor is almost human sometimes but most of the time he is a queer duck. He has a nose for news like a duck. He has one big ear which he lends to publik opinion and scandal. The other small one he lends to his creditors. The Editor allways smoks a corn-cob pipe on ackount of its ekonomy and besides it holes more dope for ideas. The Editor never has much hare. He rubs most of it off wile writing edictorials on the tariff question. When the Editor looses his shears and paste-pot he is allso lost. A Editor and his shears and pastepot are inseparible. A Editor smils only when he is having his pictur took which is not often. When anybody wants to find out something they ask the Editor; if he don't no he will make you think he does. Anyway the Editor is a supearear person because he is usually able to make his bluff good. More can be said about Editors than any other specys especially by printers and reporters.

A Editor is often a has-been printer and he is proud of the fack but he don't like printers. Contrary to the geniral rule the Editor is made not born. He is made like a mashine so that he can work like one. His weels often run amuk like one, but he allways gets them together by the time the next isshu goes to press. A Editor nos all about politicks but he is not a politshun. He rites but he can't talk. Politishuns talk but it is the Editor who correcks there grammar and spellin'. Editors dont no when they are telling the truth because it would not fill more than ¼ of the paper. If ignorance is blis it is folie to be wise, so the Editor is wise when it serves his purpose. A Editor never takes a vacation unless it is to attend a meeting of the nashinal editorial assoseashun. When the Editor goes home he cusses everybody round the shop for not getting out a good paper in his absence, but he nos all the time that his absence was an emprovement. — Tacoma (Wash.) Lovey's Thoughtfulness

"George, dear," said Mrs. Dovekins who had come down stairs in time to pour the coffee, "I'm going to walk to the car with you this morning. Aren't you glad?"

"Very glad, indeed, lovey. It's so nice of you to think of me and to get up early for the purpose of making it unnecessary to walk those dismal three blocks alone. How much do you want?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Kind He Was

A kindly lady who lives in New Jersey, evinces great interest in the personal welfare of her servants, an interest which led her not long since to make inquiry of a new maid of all work touching the latter's domestic felicities.

"I understand, Nora," said she, "that you have a model husband."

"Shure, mum, he's the foinest a gyurl could have," was the enthusiastic response. "If ye could see th' way he trates me, mum, ye'd be after sayin' he were a frind instid of a husband."—Harper's Weekly.

WOMEN'S WOES

La Crosse Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Anna Peters, 1123 S. Third St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "In 1903 I had an attack of La Grippe and this affected my kidneys. I felt tired and miserable and soon began to suffer from pains in my kidneys. The secretions from these organs were also disordered. A few months ago my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I obtained a box at Erhart's drug store. I wish to express my gratefulness for the relief this remedy brought me."

PEARY AGAIN SAYS COOK IS A FAKIR

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Reiterating that Dr. Cook has falsified in his declaration that he has reached the north pole but giving little further details of his own dash and omitting entirely any mention of Harry Whitney, Commander Peary today is quoted here in a message by wireless from Battle Harbor via Cape Ray, N F

Replying to an interrogation as to Mr. Cook's claim, Peary replied that "it was simply untrue."

Harold MacGrath's NEW NOVEL

The Goose Girl

Harold MacGrath, a writer whose name fiction readers are wont to conjure with, has set the pace for the fall fiction, and it's a pretty good pace. "The Goose Girl" is the title of this first fall product, and The Bobbs-Merrill Company is publishing it. It is a title that sounds well, but the reader will be pleased to find several characters outlined on the leaves of this, MacGrath's best book, that will appeal to them fully as much as the humble virtuous, lovable "goose girl."—Boston Globe.

DEBATE ATTACK ON JOE CANNON

The Franklin club will hold its regular weekly debate at the Fjelstad hall on Caledonia street, tomorrow evening, the question for the debate being, "Resolved, that Congressman Fowler was justified in writing his open letter to Speaker Joseph G. Cannon." The affirmative will be sustained by Messrs Marvin, Spence and Figgie. The negative will be argued by D. G. Wartinbee, W. L. Rossiter and G. W. Flynn.

"JERRY" CUMMINGS IS LAID TO REST

Trainman Injured Near the Can Company's Plant Is Buried This Morning

The funeral of Jeremiah Cummings, the Burlington switchman who expired Sunday at the La Crosse hospital, from internal injuries and complications resulting from having his arm cut off under the wheels of the coal tender of a switch engine near the La Crosse Can Company's building on the river front about ten days ago, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at the St. John's church The last services were conducted by Rev. Kaluza and the funeral was in charge of Undertaker William Dwyer. Interment was made in the Oak Grove cemetery.

Many friends of the deceased were present at the services this morning. Jerry Cummings had been a popular employe of the Burlington and his friends are grieved at his unexpected death.

PRETTY WEDDING IN ONALASKA

Mrs. Bessie Johnson of Onalaska and John Braaten, 1811 Loomis street, were quietly united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Chisholm at Onalaska last evening at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Sylvia Chisholm, a sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and Sigurd Bakke supported the groom. Only immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony an elaborate wedding supper was served to the guests.

Mr. Braaten is a popular car inspector at the Burlington road at Grand Crossing.

Upon their return to the city, the couple will reside at 1811 Loomis street.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN ABOUT LIGHT POLES

Placed Near the Sidewalk in Dangerous Position on Rose Street, They Claim

The residents in the three blocks on Rose street, north of Windsor street, are up in arms because of the erection of electric light poles on their boulevards. The poles have been placed adjacent to the sidewalk so that the projecting arms on which the wires are strung hang over the walks. The residents claim that this is dangerous and point to the winter time when ice and the sleet on the wires will be falling directly down on pedestrians who may be on the walk at that time. There is also danger of wires which may be broken falling on the walks and causing trouble.

According to an ordinance passed by the common council some time ago all electric light poles must be placed in alleys. The people say that if the light company had placed the poles at the outer edge of the boulevards the matter would not have been so dangerous, but the present situation is declared to be a menace to the public at large.

Some of the residents are investigating the matter and it is probable that they will secure an injunction preventing the erection of more poles and seeking the removal of those which are already put up.

JOHN STRANGE SAYS HE IS A CANDIDATE

tion. I do not believe any one should presume to anticipate their wishes in the matter by picking the candidate. It may cause some contention and strife, but you know no great reform was ever accomplished without warfare and pain and temporary defeats."

The Announcement

Lieut. Governor Strange's announcement follows:

"Fully mindful of the great uncertainties confronting any citizen who enters a contest for honorable office, and realizing the vast responsibilities resting upon the successful contestant, I have decided to become a candidate for the high position of governor of Wisconsin.

"This decision has not been reached without conference with many citizens of whose high regard for the interests of the people of this—my native state—I am well assured.

"Associated with the honor of election to this office I believe there is opportunity to do many needed things in the direction of improving the rules or laws made for our observance.

"The law recently enacted to nominate candidates for office by direct vote of the people, under the Australian ballot, was intended to broaden the spirit of democracy and to encourage voters to participate in the first and most important feature of our political government. It appears reasonable to believe that we, the people, might prove best able to select men whom we desired to entrust with making and administering our laws. That deduction still seems logical to me.

"The primary election law was made to be respected, and candidates for office under it were presumed to be respectable. That men proved weak and unworthy is not conclusive, by any means, that the law is censurable.

"I am strongly in favor of adding to the primary law a provision for punishing candidates for office who attempt in any way to influence voters by the use of money, or anything that involves expenditure of money other than a candidate's travel ing and hotel expenses in his own behalf.

"I am confident that the people will provide meeting places for the purpose of permitting candidates to appear before them and present their reasons for expecting support, and that the attendance at such meetings will be greater than it has been where the meeting was planned and paid for by a candidate.

"Experience has convinced me that the voters of Wisconsin approve of clean political methods, and that an overwhelming majority favors the prohibition of the use of money by candidates seeking ofice.

"In my campaign for the office of governor I shall not use money in any way except to pay necessary traveling and hotel expenses while engaged in visiting the people throughout the state.

"I am opposed to 'tax dodging,' and I believe that if the laws governing the assessment of taxation were enforced as they should be and can be that the 'burden' would be very greatly lessened.

"I am fully satisfied that the wealth and the revenues of the state may be greatly increased by the adoption of wise and fair rules or laws for tahe control of the great waterpowers within its borders.

"I am not in favor of confiscation, nor unfairness in the consideration of this great and important source of wealth; I am not in favor of privileges to define or construe the words eges to define or construe the words confiscation or fairness in their interest, and against the interest and rights of the people of Wisconsin.

"The state may, and should receive, ultimately, an income of not less than a million dollars a year from her interest as lessor of waterpowers, and I am opposed to giving away any portion of this wealth into the hands of men or corporations.

"The fallacy of continuing such a rule as has governed in the past is clearly shown by many instances of abuses that have greatly impeded the development of this, and other states.

"I am in favor of the state's buying all of the timbered or cut over lands that can be had at reasonable prices and without burden, for the purpose of increasing our forest area, and conserving for the people tris valuable source of permanent income.

"A graded income tax would lessen the burdens of the poor payer of direct tax, and I am in favor of adding much to the state's revenue through this source.

"Much harm to representative government has been done through poli-

UNDERWOOD PASSES CITY FOR A REST

President Earling Won't Let Milwaukee's General Manager Resign

Owing to ill health due to overwork, W. J. Underwood, general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, has tendered his resignation to President A. J. Earling, who has refused to accept it. Mr. Underwood has been granted a leave of absence so that he may be free from the cares of office.

Mr. Underwood passed through La Crosse yesterday on his way to his country place near Farmington. He traveled in a private car and was accompanied by his wife.

Orders issued from the general office in Chicago announce the appointment of General Superintendent Davis L. Bush as acting general manager. In local circles this is taken to mean that Mr. Underwood will not be back at his desk for some time.

ENGINE CREW IS SAVED BY JUMPING

By jumping from their engine when it went off the tracks at Portage, Monday evening, and toppled over on its side, Engineer Patrick O'Byrne, Fireman Edward Pugh and Conductor Julius Lawrence, acting in the capacity of brakeman, saved themselves from serious injury and perhaps death.

The three men were employed on the La Crosse division of the Milwaukee road, and are well known to trainmen in this city.

The men were on locomotive No. 2074, which was pulling a freight out of the yards at Portage, and was already under fair headway, when the accident happened. When near the Freeland tank factory the engine left the tracks and the men jumped. Lawrence was badly bruised on the arm, shoulder and hips, while the others escaped unhurt.

The steam derrick was taken to the scene yesterday and the engine, after being derricked to the rails, was taken to the round house for minor repairs.

It is thought that the accident was due to the weakening of the roadbed due to the severe rain storms of the last few days.

It Is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR CHAS. MILLER

RESOLUTIONS ARE PREPARED

Attorney Frank Winter Reads Memorial Which Is Spread Upon the Record

Solemn memorial services to the memory of the late Charles B. Miller were held this afternoon in the circuit court chambers, by the La Crosse County Bar association of which Mr. Miller was a member. Attorneys from the association spoke briefly of the deceased and Attorney Frank Winter read the resolutions prepared by a committee from the association for the occasion. There was no regular program of speakers, the addresses being voluntary and extemporaneous. Judge E. C. Higbee presided.

The resolutions read by Mr. Winter were as follows:

Resolutions

In accordance with established custom and pursuant to instructions from La Crosse County Bar association, your committee present to this court a memorial of the late Charles B. Miller, and offer resolutions in commemoration of his life and character.

Charles B. Miller died at his home in the city of La Crosse on the 8th day of June, 1909, after a lingering illness, surrounded by a loving family and relatives. While a long sufferer, yet his demise came suddenly and unexpectedly, and caused a severe shock to his relatives and a multitude of friends.

Charles B. Miller was born in La Crosse, September 13th, 1856, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Miller. He attended the parochial schools and later entered the public schools, graduating from the La Crosse high school under Professor Varney. After completing his common school education, he went to the St. Francis seminary at Milwaukee with the intention of studying for the priesthood. Later he attended St. John's college at St. Cloud, Minn., and also a college at Fond du Lac. While attending school he changed his plans and took up a law course.

Admitted to the Bar in 1881

Upon returning to La Crosse, he entered the law office of Wing & Prentiss, where he studied law with George H. Gordon, who was in the same office at the time. In 1881 the deceased was admitted to the bar and a few years afterwards he formed a co-partnership with E. J. Hughes, under the firm name of Hughes & Miller. Later the late G. C. Prentiss entered the firm, and the name was changed to Prentiss, Hughes & Miller. When Mr. Hughes was elected county judge the firm was dissolved, and Mr. Miller opened an office of his own. In November, 1894, he formed a co-partnership with William F. Wolfe, under the firm name of Miller & Wolfe, which continued until four years ago, when it was dissolved. Since that time he practiced alone.

The deceased was united in marriage in November, 1883, to Miss Anna Kevin. To them were born five children, Marian, Genevieve, Carl, Julia and Marcellus. Mrs. Miller died ten years ago last November, and on January 10th, 1900, Mr. Miller was again married to Miss Mary Kevin, who with the children, survive him.

The deceased was a prominent member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, having for a number of years been a trustee of that organization. He was a member of St. Joseph's Liebesbund, Third Ward Aid society, Travellers' Protective association and the Improved Order of Redmen.

A Public Spirited Citizens

Born in the city he loved so well, he lived in it practically from its unpretentious beginning until it attained its present splendid proportions, and in many phases of its industrial, aesthetic and moral development, he took a conspicuous part. He was always alive to any enterprise that led to the betterment or enlargement of our city and ardently supported every movement tending towards municipal improvement.

Politically Mr. Miller was a democrat from pare to core during his entire matured life and was often honored by his party by being selected as its representative in local and state conventions. He followed the party through all its vicissitudes, and was steadfast to its principles, at times when many forsook it on the ground of expediency. He never held high political office, because he did not seek it, and because his party was in the minority in this section of Wisconsin, except for brief and intermittent periods from the time he reached his majority until he died.

Was Member of Catholic Church

In religion Mr. Miller was an ardent member of the Great Roman Catholic church. To it he rendered a devotion that was admirable. The duriments of his religious education having been supplemented by a thorough course of training in higher institutions of learning connected with the church, preparatory to entering the priesthood he was familiar with the truths and teachings of the church and appreciated its philosophy. He entered enthusiastically into the charitable and sociological work, which is so successfully carried on by that church, and it can safely be said that for twenty years he was one of the best known and most active Catholic laymen in Wisconsin. For many years he was a director and vice president of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, an institution which, in addition to its benevolent work, has met with wonderful success as a fraternal insurance company. His official duties in this connection brought him into contact with a large number of people throughout the state who appreciated his acumen and business ability. In the foolish and underhanded war of a decade and a half ago, instituted by a narrow minded and nativistic element against his church, known as the A. P. A. movement, he did much to preserve the practical right of every man to "worship Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience," and that "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the state" as provided for and guaranteed by our constitution.

Preferred Comercial Law

As a lawyer, Mr. Miller liked some phases of his profession and disliked others. None appreciated better than he his strength and his weaknesses in this regard. He shrank from the actual trial of cases and ordinarily allowed his associates to attend to that part of the work. He preferred the branches commonly called commercial, probate and real estate law, and was grounded in the substantiative law pertaining thereto, and kept up with the latest adjudications in these fields. He was an enthusiastic worker and had a large clientage which he held up to the time of the commencement of his fatal illness.

In his home life he was in many respects exemplary. He was twice married and each time was blessed with a kind, appreciative and devoted wife. To his children all born of his first wife, he was devoted to a degree that always commanded admiration. A most liberal provider, a firm but kind monitor, he reared a family of which any man might well be proud, and in which his whole soul was wrapped up. Their devotion to him was equally great. His loss to them is too great, to sacred for any words of ours to palliate or assuage.

Had Many Friends

As a man Mr. Miller always enjoyed a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He had a kindly disposition, vivacious spirit and a fund of anecdotes, which made him popular with his associates. When aggravated, he was impulsive and his manner peremptory, but he held no grudges and his spirit of forgiveness tolerated no lasting enmities. He was large hearted and liberal beyond the capacity of the average man. Many times this feature of his nature was taken advantage of by the sinister and unprincipled, causing him considerable financial losses. All in all, he filled a niche in our citizenship that is vacant. His passing away in the full vigor of matured manhood left a void in the hearts of many friends. The unusual demonstration among those within his church and without, among our citizens and his neighbors in all positions in life, as the last sad rites were performed over his mortal remains, attested their grief and the esteem in which he was held as a friend, a neighbor and a benefactor. May he receive, as he confidently expected he would, that just judgment from the final arbiter of all things immortal that his deeds as a father, a husband, a lawyer and a citizen meet, and let us who live after profit by and remember him for the good deeds he has done.

We offer this memorial together with the following resolution for adoption:

Resolutions

Resolved, that the bar of La Crosse county suffered a great loss by and is sorely bereaved at the death of Charles B. Miller; that as a husband and father he was faithful and of known probity; that as a lawyer and citizen he was genial, companionable and a man of great energy and activity, and that we mourn his loss.

Resolved further, that the sympathy of the bar is hereby extended to the bereaved family and friends of the deceased.

Resolved further, that a copy of this memorial and these resolutions be spread upon the records and that the secretary be instructed to furnish a copy to the widow and for publication.

The Truth About Benzoate of Soda

President Remsen, of Johns Hopkins University, after reading the following editorial in the Denver POST of August 23, declared it to be the most accurate and clear exposition of the entire benzoate of soda situation he had ever seen in print:

A NEEDLESS SCARE

(By HUGH O'NEIL, Editorial Writer.)

As many people have been needlessly scared by loose gossip and clever advertising about the danger of benzoate of soda as a food preservative, the POST publishes the following authoritative statement for their reassurance, and suggests an experiment by the convention of food and dairy commissioners, that should be enlightening to the public and to some, at least, of the commissioners.

Small quantities (one in one thousand) of benzoate of soda are used in certain canned and bottled foods. BECAUSE IT IS UNSAFE TO PACK AND MARKET THEM IN ANY OTHER WAY. Benzoate of soda is used as a preservative because experience and the overwhelming weight of accredited scientific opinion have proved and declared benzoate of soda to be harmless to the human system and inert in its effect upon the assimilative qualities of the food.

Benzoate of soda is better than vinegar and essential oils as a preservative, because vinegar and essential oils can be used in the "making over" of defective and decaying fruits and vegetables, while benzoate of soda can be put to no such use. And the fight against benzoate of soda is being made by firms said to be suspected of "making over" inferior material with oils and vinegar and by one Federal official enamored of his own theory.

Here are the facts:

In 1907, Dr. Harvey Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, made a series of experiments with the "poison squad" to ascertain the effect of benzoate of soda upon digestion, assimilation, and that physiological change called metabolism. The "squad" consisted of twelve men. The experiment lasted forty days. (The duration of that experiment should be remembered.) At the termination of the experiment, Dr. Wiley reported that: "The administration of benzoic acid, either as such or in the form of benzoate of soda, is highly objectionable and produces very serious disturbances in the metabolic functions, attended with injury to digestion and health." And thereupon Dr. Wiley sought to have the use of benzoate of soda in all canned and bottled foods prohibited under the Food and Drugs Act.

But, as the suggestion was sweeping, and only supported by the conclusion of one man, the Secretary of Agriculture, at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, appointed a board of consulting scientific experts to make independent laboratory investigations of the problem. That board consisted of five men, one of whom, Taylor, of the University of California, was absent in Europe, therefore could not participate in the investigations.

The experiments conducted by Professor Russell H. Chittenden, head of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, covered a period of one hundred and thirty days. The six men experimented upon were graduate students. Professor Chittenden was assisted by three other professors of the Scientific School. And, after a series of long and elaborate tests, Professor Chittenden reported that: "We are of opinion that sodium benzoate, in small and large doses, up to a maximum of four grains per day, is NO MORE PROVOCATIVE OF DISTURBANCES OF THE HUMAN ORGANISM THAN THE CORRESPONDING AMOUNT OF COMMON (TABLE) SALT."

Working quite independently of Chittenden, Professor John H. Long, of the Medical School of the Northwestern University, experimented on six men for a period of ninety days. He was assisted by medical specialists in dietetics, pathology, and bacteriology. And he reported that: "The health of the men has suffered no impairment from the use of benzoate of soda in the period of absorption."

Professor Christian A. Herter, of Columbia University, experimented on four men for one hundred and twenty days. He was assistedd by fourteen specialists of the Medical School of the University. And he reported that: "None of the experimental subjects who submitted themselves to our observations derived any injurious effects therefrom." And the whole board of consulting scientific experts thereupon reported to the Secretary of Agriculture that: "Sodium benzoate in large doses (up to four grains per day), mixed with food, has not been found to exert anw deleterious effect on the general health," and "the admixture of sodium benzoate with food in small or large does has not been found to injuriously affect or impair the quality or nutritive value of such food."

So that, against the individual opinion of the Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture (reached after forty days of personal research), are the combined opinions of three scientific physiologists of international reputation, who conducted experiments over a period of from ninety to one hundred and twenty days, assisted by nineteen specialists, working in at least two of the most completely equipped laboratories in the world.

Under those circumstances the harmlessness of benzoate of soda as a preservative for canned and bottled foods, which are not consumed immediately after opening, can well be accepted as proved, and the householder who sees "Benzoate of Soda one-tenth of one per cent." on his catsup bottle label can use that catsup with assurance. But there is another side of the question that should be settled while the food and dairy commissioners are sitting in Denver.

Certain firms are advertising that benzoate of soda can be used not only as a safe preservative, but to "make over" and disguise the character of unsuitable and decaying fruits and vegetables.

MAKE THIS EXPERIMENT.

Now the POST is advised that no such use can be made of benzoate of soda; and it asks the food commissioners to make this experiment, under the supervision of qualified scientists: Buy a lot of bruised and decaying tomatoes, so bruised and decaying that the condition will be obvious to sight and smell. Have them cooked in the presence of food commissioners. When they are sufficiently cooked, remove them from the fire and divide them into three portions. Leave one portion untreated, so that it will be shown that cooking alone will not disguise their condition. Treat another portion with benzoate of soda, to see that the benzoate of soda FAILS TO ALTER THE CHARACTER OF THE TOMATOES. Then treat the third portion with vinegar (a "simple condiment") and those other "simple condiments," the oils and spices that "mother used." And it will be shown that benzoate of soda CANNOT be used to disguise the character of unfit material, while the vinegar and spices that "mother used" CAN.

For housewives, who have been needlessly frightened, and all men who want to eat in comfort, we sumbit these facts and suggest this experiment to the food commissioners.

Dr. John H. Long, of the Northwestern University of Chicago, in his address the next day at the convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments, explained that such an experiment had been performed. Here is his statement:

"At the request of a large manufacturing firm, there "was sent to my laboratory a mass of rotten tomatoes with "which to make catsup. I meanwhile had gathered up "more rotten tomatoes apples, a few peaches, and some "bananas. These were allowed to rot further through four "or five days. Out of this about two gallons of catsup "were made. Some of it was preserved with vinegar and "spices, some with benzoate, and some left unmixed. The "odor and taste of the last were bad, that with the benzoate "showed essentially the same condition, while with the vine-"gar and spices a fair grade of commercial catsup was secured. A worse lot of raw material could not be imagined, "yet the inferiority in the one lot of product was completely "concealed by the use of vinegar and spices. Benzoate has "but little taste and no odor, and therefore it cannot con-"ceal inferiority."

JEWS CELEBRATE NEW YEAR TODAY

Gather at Jewsh Tabernacle to Observe Opening of Period of the Jewish Faith

With the first blast of the Jewish shofar, which is sounded in these modern times as often from the cornet as from the time honored ram's born, every Jew, orthodox or unorthodox, will tonight gather for the annual celebration of the new year, 5670, at the Jewish Tabernacle in this city.

The celebration embraces seven days and lasts from the day of Rosh Hoshanah (new year) until Yom Kippur (the day of atonement.)

It matters little whether a Jew be good or bad during the celebration. He may be the worst sort of Hebrew according to a strict interpretation of religious rite, but this is the occasion on which he rebuilds anew his bonds of allegiance to the church and saves himself from a total breaking away from the faith of his fathers.

Throughout the week of new year every Jewish church in La Crosse will hold special services, and Jews from all parts of the country will return to worship in the temples of their parents, for, according to the Bible, this is the time that "will bring back the children to the parents and turn the hearts of the parents toward the children."

The celebration is one of the most ancient in Hebrew history, dating back to the time of Moses. The Book of Leviticus tells of the celebration having been ordered direct from the mouth of God through Moses to the children of Israel. The symbolical meaning of the day of atonement which closes the celebration is that it foretells the final day of atonement.

According to Rabbi M. Reiman, Jewish Congregation, 414 North Eleventh street, La Crosse, it is the most solemn celebration in the Jewish ritual, as it has the widest appeal to all classes and conditions of Jews.

Elaborate programs for the celebration of the seven days have been arranged.

FINE MATERIAL AT COMMAND OF COACH

High School Will Have a Championship Football Team This Season

MANY OLD MENON THE LIST

Fitch Shaw Will Be Captain and Quarterback, and Others Are Up in Their Studies

With the second week of school at hand the candidates for the La Crosse high school football team seem to be more interested and instead of decreasing in numbers after the first few nights of school, which has been true in former years, new faces are appearing daily. In spite of the threatening weather of last night three full teams appeared on the school campus. With a majority of the old material still in school and with the new men La Crosse's chances for a championship team were never brighter.

Fitch Shaw, last year's star end and quarter back, is again at quarter back, and if he repeats his work of last year the team will not be weak in this position. Shaw will captain the team this year and will have charge while the squad is in action on the gridiron. Ben Brindley, Fred Collins, Ian Tiedeman, Harold Davis have returned to school and are now trying for positions. Tiedeman and Ray have been working on punts the last few nights.

Several men, ineligible last fall, are now up in their studies and if they continue to keep their work up to the required standard the squad will be greatly strengthened. Eugene Hundredmark, Ray Keeler, Walter Shirley and Ervin Chamberlain all excellent players make up the latter class. Besides these men Coach Doseff will be able to pick men from the following list, George Walker, Rudolph Schlabach, Al Bellerue, Robert Ray, Ed. Stavrum, Arthur Hayes, Karl Schweizer, Robert Sidensol, George Davidson, Earl Locke, Charles Hyde, Odin Strum, Harry Gatterdam, Norman Kelley and Howard Hundredmark.

The work so far has consisted mostly of signal practice and the learning of a few plays. Sometime during the present week the scrimmage work will be begun and it will be then the coach will have his first opportunity to get a line on the individual players.

river. As revised and passed the bill cut the appropriation to $4,500 and provided the fish should be deposited in the Mississippi river or in other running streams of Wisconsin. The intention of the fathers of the bill was that the game wardens along the state line should hire fishermen in their respective localities to seine the sloughs with which they would be thoroughly familiar and thereby carry out the intent to rescue land locked fish. The wardens would vary crews according to locality and thereby the appropriation would be paid into the hands of the fishermen who were providing the money by paying seining licenses. It would also benefit the fishermen as well as the sportsmen, as it placed the fish back into the river to be seed for their future livelihood. Thus, thought the promoters of the idea, the fishermen would enter into the pirit of the thing as well as receive benefit financially for their labors.

Instead of this plan working out, as provided in the bill, claims Mr. Starr, Governor Davidson, probably through a misunderstanding of conditions, turned this money over to Fish Commissioner "Jim" Nevins, who already had a $50,000 appropriation for his department. This money, therefore, is now being used to further shipments of bass fry out of the state instead of fostering them here.

Wants Money Restored.

One of Mr. Starr's intentions in the matter is to secure the co-operation of Governor Davidson to have the appropriation of $4,500 transferred into the hands of the game wardens to be used as provided, and he expects to make the success of the work the basis for making a final call for $20,000 per year for this work, thus enabling the department to patrol the entire state line.

According to Mr. Starr the steamer Curlew has been ousted from the vicinity of Cassville and other southern waters. At one time the government crew was found seining from bars in the open river, and through the efforts of Mr. Starr and Warden Storrs former Governor La Follette rescinded the steamer's permit to seine and ordered their equipment confiscated if they were caught in the act. The permit was with drawn, but Governor Davidson since issued a new one. The Curlew, says Mr. Starr, is the only boat of its kind in the United States, and politically influential people in all parts of the country are depending upon this little steamer to take from the Mississippi fish to stock private ponds and out of the way streams while the Mississippi river is being combed of its bass which has made its fishing famous.

Mr. Starr is now in correspondence with various officials and expects local sportsmen to become interested in the fight and come to his assistance in the campaign to preserve Mississippi river fish for the Mississippi.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

"My son's back was raw from shoulder to shoulder and the width of your hand. I really did not think he ever would be cured. He would scratch until the blood would run and he was like a raw piece of meat. I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1908."

SUPERINTENDENT FAINTS WITH PAIN

George H. Shaw Runs the Wrecker to Scene of Derailment and Is Struck by Brake

While running the wrecking car to the corner of Seventh and Market streets last night, where a street car had jumped the tracks, Superintendent George H. Shaw of the La Crosse City Railway company, was struck on the left arm by he brake handle of the car and painfully injured.

The accident occurred at about 11 o'clock. Mr. Shaw took out the wrecker himself so as to get to the scene of the derailment at once. He reached the car which was off the track sooner than he expected and set his brake hard so as to avoid striking it. The brake caught for a second but just as he let go of the handle, the catch which holds the brake let go, throwing the handle backward with great force.

The skin was broken by the force of the blow and the injured member began to swell immediately. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital by the crew of the Market street car, after he had fainted several times. Here it was found that no bones were broken, and the injury was dressed. Mr. Shaw was able to be at the barns this morning.

CAR JUMPS TRACK

An open street car jumped the tracks at Fourth and Pearl streets shortly after noon today and made a dash towards the curb but was stopped before any damage was done. There were several people on the car at the time but no one was hurt. Another car was secured from the power house and in a few minutes the car had been pulled back on the rails and traffic resumed.

BOOM IN BROOM CORN A RECORD

Highest Yet, Says August Miller, and Brooms Will Advance Higher

BROOM CORN $150 PER TON

Astonishing Figures Preclude Decrease and the Manufacturer Sees Many Failures

During the last week broom corn, in the growing districts in Illinois, has increased greatly in price, taking such a rise as has hardly even been chronicled in the history of that product. The increase it seems is due to the dry weather and in the entire broom corn districts of Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma the conditions are such that the corn is selling for $150 a ton. In some places it has been reported that the corn is being bought at $110 a ton but no verification of the story could be obtained.

August Miller, the local broom manufacturer, said today in an interview: "This is the highest price that I have ever heard of in the broom corn market. I only wish I could see one-half the profit for the manufacturers that the farmers are getting. Broom business is not good and a sudden jump of about $40 a ton in broom corn means that the ordinary 22 pound broom will be increased at least 50 cents a dozen. I look to see some big failures in the broom business during the next six months and time alone can now tell how the market will go. We buy but little of our corn in this vicinity and the poor condition of the market will affect this city as well as those in the corn growing districts. People expected that the price of brooms this fall would decrease greatly but there is now the prospect that the already high price will be increased."

CHILD WON'T TELL WHO SLEW BABES

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Forty-eight hours search by the police has failed to develop any tangible clew bearing on the identity of the man who shot Theresa Procopia and Ferdinando Infusino to death in a ravine in this city Sunday night and who shattered the arm of Fannie Infusino with a pistol ball.

Chief of Police Brophy is more convinced than ever that Fannie Infusino, the single survivor of the three children shot by the assassin can tell the name of the guilty person, but when asked today to repeat to Brophy the name of the murderer as she divulged it to Miss A. C. Gray, immediately after the discovery of the plight of the children in the ravine, Fannie denied she had indicated to Mrs. Gray the name of the murderer. The police are not greatly surprised for they are more than ever convinced that the shadow of the blackhand rests on the memories of the afflicted family and in fear of their own lives, they are preserving a silence which promises to prevent a solution of the case. Ercole Infusino, father of Ferdinand Infusino, the murdered boy, resents the imputation that he told his little daughter Fannie not to tell who did the shooting.

"It's a lie," said Infusino between sobs as he prepared for the funeral of his boy. "I never told the little girl such a thing. You tell the police that is not so."

Infusino's other daughter, aged 16, stood by during this conversation. To her father's indignant speech she added:

"Do you think the murderer is dearer to us than our own children, that we shield him?"

The two funerals were held today under a police guard.

ENTRIES FOR DOG SHOW END TONIGHT

President George F. Houser and Secretary Oscar Huiberg of the La Crosse Kennel club will be at the offices of Dr. Hauser in the Linker building this evening until 10 o'clock for the purpose of receiving entries to the Kennel Club's Dog Show which will be held in connection with the Inter-State fair here the last week of this month. Entries close tonight and none will be accepted after this date.

President Hauser wishes to impress upon dog owners that the club has arranged for expert dog men to care for the animals during the week of the show and that they will be protected from thieves and danger.

LA CROSSE CROWDS AT COUNTY FAIR

Three Trains Take Local People to West Salem Exposition This Morning

WEATHER IS IDEAL TODAY

All Exhibits Are Crowded, and Corn Contest Is One of the New Features

(By Staff Correspondent)

WEST SALEM, Wis., Sept. 15.—The second day at the La Crosse county fair made up for all that was missing yesterday when a downpour of rain made it look as though there was no fair at all. The weather was ideal and a large crowd was on the grounds all day long. The association workmen were at work all the morning fixing up the grounds and dragging the track ready for this afternoon's races which promise to be fast.

La Crosse people were much in evidence. There was an extra car attached to the early Northwestern train and on the 11 o'clock Milwaukee and noon Northwestern trains large delegations of La Crosse people came, all equipped with flaring La Crosse badges.

Departments Filled

All of the departments are well filled, and the stock is especially fine. The poultry department has a good exhibit and Judge E. H. Hoffman today started the work of judging the feathered stock.

There is an excellent "pike," all kinds of games and tents and side shows and a visitor must have a very cold heart who cannot have a good time at the West Salem fair.

In the Expo Building

There are a number of La Crosse exhibits in the exposition building, which is well stocked with interesting shows and exhibits. The fruit show is one of the best features here while the corn contest, the first ever held by the association is an interesting feature. Prizes aggregating $120 are offered.

There are many old settlers on the ground who are taking this opportunity for a reunion and all in all it is a jolly crowd which is helping to make "La Crosse Day" the biggest of the fair.

FENCE ROW GETS INTO THE COURTS

Caroline Brorson, residing on the North side near a number of lots owned by the C. B. & Q. Railway company, today swore out a warrant against Al W. McDonald, alleging that he has appropriated to his own use lumber belonging to her to the value of two dollars.

The entire trouble is over a fence. It is said that the woman has been using the land of the railway company for her garden and that she has been keeping up the fence around the patch. She claims that whenever defendant needs a board or a piece of lumber he removes it from this fence.

EARL COOK PLEADS GUILTY; IS FINED

Earl Cook of Onalaska, saloon keeper who is charged with selling liquor to minors, made a motion in circuit court today to be allowed to change his plea from not guilty to guilty. The court accepted his plea and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs amounting to $12 by Judge Higbee.

Ed. Benson who pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge in county court, some time ago and was sentenced by Judge Brindley, has retained attorneys and his motion today to change his plea to not guilty was granted by the court. Benson claims that he did not at the time of making his plea understand the nature of the charge against him and that he had no counsel.

In the matter of Isaac Schlotchiver against James Thomason a motion was brought to change attorneys. Messrs Winter and Kleeber represented Thomason at the previous action, and he has now retained Attorneys Raymond and Raymond. The case is a damage suit for alleged slander, the plaintiff claiming that the defendant accused him of the theft of a stove.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which affect the skin, their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These affections are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such impurities inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S. S. S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acids of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean; they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. restores to the thin, acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The stock market opened active and strong. Reading was again the prominent feature, opening up 1 1-8. Pennsylvania crossed 144. Other important railroad stocks showed proportionate gains, New York Central advancing 7-8. Union Pacific to some extent shares in the advance but later lost all on speculative liquidation. Steel common rose 3-4. At the end of the first fifteen minutees the market was generally strong and active.

11 a. m.—The broadening of the market became more pronounced with the beginning of business today, decided activity being displayed all over the room, with nearly everything traded in showing a substantial advance. Reading advanced to 167 against 164 1-4 at yesterday's close. Steel common advanced to above 80.

Government bonds unchanged; others strong.

Noon—The market all through the forenoon continued extremely active but in the last half of that period there were some moderate recessions. Pennsylvania rose to 144 3-4, the highest at which that stock has sold since the 1907 panic. New York Central advanced 2 3-4 in all but before midday lost a small part of that gain.

SEVERAL INJURED BY FALLING PANE

VIROQUA, Wis., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—While Chris Peterson, assisted by several men, was putting in a new plate glass window at Mrs. Lawrence Bagley's millinery store, the glass suddenly broke in pieces. It was not dropped, but it is thought to have been too highly tempered to stand the strain. Herb Morrison had shoulder and head badly cut. Chris Peterson was hurt in the back and F. W. Baker had his head and hand cut. It was necessary to take eight stitches in the scalp wound of Mr. Baker and the others had injuries almost as serious. Gilbert Burkhart and Tom May, who were also assisting in raising the glass, escaped unhurt.

The loss will be that of an insurance company, who were replacing a cracked pane. The milliners were very anxious to have the new pane in, as they needed the display window very much. Now two storm windows are in and the rest is boarded up.

TAFT COMMITTEE MEETING TOMORROW

The Taft reception committee will hold a final meeting at the La Crosse club tomorrow afternoon at which final details for the reception of the president will be completed. There will be no material change in the plans heretofore announced, only that the committee will greet the president here instead of going to Tomah to board the train as was originally planned.

OPENING OF THE STANDING ROCK AND CHEYENNE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATIONS

Registration at Mobridge, Lemmon or Aberdeen, S. D., October 4 to 23

The opening of the Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Indian Reservations in South Dakota and North Dakota in October will give about ten thousand people 160 acres of fertile farming lands for a small sum per acre. The government has appraised these lands at 50 cents to $6 per acre.

If you intend to engage in farming or are now farming and wish to change your location, why not register for one of these farms. You may be successful in the drawing for these lands.

Aberdeen, South Dakota, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and Mobridge and Lemmon, South Dakota, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway, are points of registration. You can register any day from October 4 to 23. The drawing will take place at Aberdeen on October 26.

The land in the counties to the east of these reservations now sells at $25 to $30 per acre.

This land opening will also give you a splendid opportunity to see the wonderful country opened through construction of the new line to the Pacific Coast, at small additional cost over your railroad fare to points of registration.

GIRL SAYS LICENSE IS ALL A JOKE

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 15.—Although he had apparently obtained the permission of the girl and had also secured a marriage license, Henry Stewart, an employe in the Soo line shops at North Fond du Lac, will not be married—that is at least not to the girl of his present choice.

It is said that Mr. Stewart called upon Miss Yates and asked to see her privately. Mr. Stewart is said to have asked her to marry him, while in the presence of several other persons.

Miss Yates, it is said, thought that Mr. Stewart was joking and laughing, she is alleged to have said, "of course, I will marry you."

Mr. Stewart took the matter seriously as he came to this city and secured a marriage license from County Clerk A. S. Wilkinson last Friday, according to the records in the clerk's office.

After securing the license it is said Mr. Stewart also engaged the minister to marry him and Miss Yates and was then surprised to find that the woman had thought the whole matter was a joke.

EPIDEMIC CLOSES GANTSBURG SCHOOLS

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Sept. 15.—An epidemic of paralytic diphtheria has broken out in the village of Grantsburg and vicinity, four cases having been found in the family of G. R. Wedin.

The village schools were ordered closed for a week and longer should it be found necessary.

STORM DAMAGE GREAT

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 15.—Several thousand dollars' damage to property was done by the electrical storm Monday night. In the town of Lawrence three barns and one house was struck. Two horses and chickens and pigs burned. In this city telephone communication was interrupted and minor damage done. Oconto also reports considerable havoc by the storm.

WAUPACA, Wis., Sept. 15.—The heaviest electrical storm of the season passed over here Monday night. The large barn of Hans Olson, four miles north of this city, was struck by lightning and burned, together with 900 bushels of grain. A number of other small fires were reported and many telephones were burned out. A heavy downpour of rain followed, badly washing country roads.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS FOR GAME WARDENS

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 15.—There will be a civil service examination on Oct. 2. There seems to be every disposition on the part of the chief game warden to co-operate with the civil service commission in upbuilding his department.

OVERCOME BY HEAT IN MILWAUKEE; DIES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 15.—An unknown man, thought to be an employe of the Johns-Manville company, was found overcome by the heat in an unconscious condition near the company's plant in the Menomonee valley at 7 o'clock last night and taken to the Emergency hospital, where he died at 10:40.

REPLICA OF THE CLERMONT SAILS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The veil of a hundred years lifted yesterday and from down the waters of the Kill Von Kull steamed a wraith of the past century, a replica of "Robert Fulton's folly" the little steamer Clermont, which is to take a leading part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration the latter part of this month.

The Clermont steamed slowly, exactly as did her predecessor. Not more than five miles an hour could she make for the engines in the 1909 Clermont as are near as possible a duplicate of the engines in the original. They take up half the boat. The boiler is upright and there are two big and two little cog wheels. The smaller cog wheels are the balance wheels on the outside of the boat which were intended to prevent the paddlewheels from being stopped in the "center."

Her small unprotected paddlewheels attracted attention. They had eight blades compared to the hundred or more in her modern progeny.

In the Hudson-Fulton celebration she will be manned by a crew dressed exactly as the crew of the first Clermont and her passengers will be attired as the passengers of a century ago.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

PRIEST IS TARGET FOR ANCIENT EGGS

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 15.—The Rev. Father Andrew Ricek of the St. Josephate Independent Polish Catholic church was made the target for a volley of eggs and gravel as He was leaving the St. Peter and St. Paul's church, where he had said mass.

The attack on the priest was the result of internal strife in the congregation of St. Peter and St. Paul's church. It is said that a number of families in that congregation are in favor of breaking away from the authority of the Duluth diocese.

This element has succeeded in getting enough men on the committee in charge of the church to dictate its policies, took possession and asked Father Ricek to preach the sermon.

The trouble arose from the fact that Father Ricek is the head of the St. Josephate church, which has already broken away from the authority of the bishop.

The clergyman did not stop to defend himself, but beat a hasty retreat.

WOMEN TO SHARE IN $183,000,000

KENMARE, N. D., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Jessie Skinner and sister, Miss Hulda E. Dover of this city have received notice that they are heirs jointly with thirty-eight others to a $183,000,000 estate in Germany. In 1810 their great-grandmother, then Mary Hess, was disinherited by her father, the disinheritance extending into the third generation, although her share of the estate was set aside to be distributed to the heirs at the end of 100 years.

There are now forty heirs, and Mrs. Skinner and Miss Dover each come in for their share.

SORORITY GIRLS MUST SIGN NEW PLEDGE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 15.—Girls at the East high school who are or who have been members of the prohibited Delta Psi Delta sorority will tomorrow be called upon to sign the new pledges prepared by Principal William F. Webster.

These pledges not only forswear all participation in the affairs of the society, but require from parents a promise that they will support the efforts of the school authorities to put down secret societies.

TOOTHACHE DRIVES HIM TO ROB POOR

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 15.—Accused of robbing the poor box at a local church because his teeth ached, B. H. Hoil is under arrest here today. Hoil admitted to the police that he took $13 from the box.

"That money was contributed to help the poor," he said, "and say did you ever have two aching teeth? I simply had to have money for the dentist."

Regret for the past is efficacious only when it influences the future.

Health and Beauty Secrets

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

A. L.: Treat canker in the mouth with pure alum, but rinse well from the teeth as it affects the enamel.

H. S.: For a quick drying home shampoo simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teacupful hot water. Pour on the hair and rub well. Canthrox makes a rich and plentiful lather that thoroughly cleans the scalp, removes dandruff, relieves itching and irritation and leaves the hair soft, bright and fluffy. Every article mentioned in my recipes is carried in stock by druggists, and your druggist will get canthrox for you if he cares to be accommodating.

Hattie C.: It may be a cruel way to put it, but it is only truth to say that competition is keen among women and she who is most attractive in appearance most often wins the best husband and home. It is your duty to look your prettiest. The most important step in securing a good complexion is to purify your blood. Get from your druggist 1 ounce of kardene and one-half pint of alcohol. Put these in a quart measure. This makes a splendid blood tonic and liver invigorator and is a good remedy for pimples, blotches, sallow complexion, scrofula and all eruptions of the skin. Take 1 tablespoonful five minutes before meals and before retiring and it will put your blood in good condition for winter.

R. F. D.: To get rid of that "shiny," greasy look that troubles you, use this spurmax lotion, and it will give the skin a clear, fresh and youthful appearance. Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spurmax, dissolve it in a half-pint of warm water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. If applied in the morning your complexion will not need retouching the whole day long. It is a true beautifier and is widely used in preference to powder.

Laura S.: Always rub gently in massaging, for if you rub hard you do more harm than good. To make a good, greaseless face cream jelly that is excellent for massaging and any purpose for which ordinary face cream is used, get from your druggist 1 ounce of almozoin and dissolve it in a half-pint of cold water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand. If too thick thin by adding more water until you have the desired consistency. As this cream jelly contains no oils or fats it can be used without fear of causing hair to grow. It is unexcelled as a cleanser, for when applied it causes the dirt and grime to roll off and the pores are really cleared. Almozoin tends to make large pores small and prevents blackheads. It also removes freckles and tan and keeps the skin moist, smooth and pliable.

Wm. G.: To rid yourself of superfluous fat get from your druggist 4 ounces of parnotis, take it home and dissolve it in one pint of hot water. Take 1 tablespoonful three times a day, before meals.

Estelle: To make your dull and inflamed eyes bright, clear and sparkling use a few drops of eye tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This eye tonic will not smart or burn, but will rest, sooth and strengthen your eyes.

Ada R.: Dandruff and split hairs are signs that the scalp needs nourishment. Shampoo the hair twice a month with canthrox. Cut off all ends of split hairs. To nourish the hair roots and keep scalp in healthy condition use once or twice a week a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinola in a half-pint of alcohol and adding half-pint of cold water. Rub into scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed. This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuriant and glossy.

Mrs. X.: A small bag of salt, well heated and covered with flannel, gives relief when applied to an aching ear.

MEN'S SECTION

Correct Style Notes

WHILE a wide latitude is always offered in the selection of styles for men, the tendency for this season is toward simplicity. There was an indication of this trend evident in the late summer styles and as has been predicted it is quite marked for the fall and winter. Fads of the extreme nature are for the nonce in disfavor excepting in college quarters where fanciful designing and ornamentation still obtains. The college man will express his individuality this season, however, in some moderation as the color schemes are of a more somber nature than those in vogue this summer.

Grays of the purer casts are quite the thing in all styles of garments. Not the elephant, mouse and stone grays that asserted themselves with some favor last season, but the stronger white and black mixtures in fancy weaves. Following close on gray in popularity are the green casts in various shades of this family, such as the olives, gray-greens, Nile and Atlantic. These last two are new shades in the spectrum of men's fashions. These grays and greens will be shown largely in tweed mixtures and other rough textures and the tendency will be toward heavy appearing effects. Blue casts will also be favored and where they are shown blue will be employed as the foundation color with grays and greens for the composite color. While of course a great variety of other shades will be shown the prominence of the colors spoken of above will be so conspicuous as to mark these colors as the "real things" and all others as a compromise to set personal taste.

In patterning, stripes will return and these are so well defined in all the advance models that it is absolutely certain that for this season at least checks will suffer retirement. Every sort of vertical pattern effect is shown from the modest pencil stripe to the boldest bars and herring bone effects. The stripes most to be recommended are the indeterminate stripes which are prominent enough to be seen but not so prominent as to obtrude themselves upon the eye.

Plaids will also find many votaries, but should be chosen by men of tall build. The plaids launched this season are of the almost imperceptible character for, mark you, this is to be a season of simplicity in patterning as well as designing.

Shapliness will characterize the models in sack suits which, by the way, will be the popular business garment of the season. These are cut full over the chest, moderately shaped at the waist and easy throughout. The correct length for sack suits still remains from 30 to 32 inches for men of average height. Shoulders of natural width and finish are correct and the seams are placed moderately high. The sleevehead is full and slightly extended. The roll is of moderate length and the fronts close with three or four buttons not quite so close set as the models of last season. The front dip is also less extreme than the summer models. Vents are shown very little and where shown are on the longer coats, and the only a center vent.

The trousers still show roominess though they are a trifle straighter than has been in vogue for several seasons. The preferred widths are 20 to 20½ inches at the knees and 16 to 17 inches bottoms. They should be easy fitting at the hips but not full.

It is well to emphasize that all lapels roll softly and are not to be ironed flat.

The tendency now is to make coat fronts as pliable and free from stiffening as possible. The stiff coat front is clumsy, hard to button and does not lie flat and snug over the chest. The double breasted sacks, while not as popular as in previous winter seasons, are to be reckoned with during the winter months of 1910. These follow in general contour the single breasted models as to shoulders and back draping. The lapels are peaked or slightly rounded and are moderately long. On these models flap pockets are favored. Vests are made either collarless or with the shawl collar and of these the former is vastly more popular and fashionable. Double breasted vests are not recorded this season excepting for evening dress wear. In the most approved models pocket flaps are absent.

In the sack suits the principle fabrics employed are tweeds, cheviots, cassimeres, velours and soft and medium finished worsteds. The selection of fall suitings for young men includes much of the high colors shown last season, but the popularity of somber grays in business suits is making its influence felt even to the college clothes. Some very nobby conceits are planned for the new striped goods and between the smarter cut of the garment and the clever manipulation of the stripes these garments will be as showy as ever if not so high in color effect.

It is quite significant in the best models of college clothes that the freakish pockets, pocket flaps, cuff decoration and button treatment are discouraged, hence the mandate for simplicity has asserted itself right into the enemy's camp. The English sack coat is destined to perpetuate the popularity it promised last fall, both in college clothes and for morning business wear. The model ordained for this fall is of full drape and shapliness. This garment will be next in prominence to the regular single breasted sack.

English frock coats have been given much serious consideration by the foremost designers, but this garment has never been received with the same favor here that it enjoys abrdad. It is a dressy, dignified garment of grace and distinction and it will yet assert itself as one of the "best sellers." While the fashion edicts have not laid any special stress upon it this season it can be adopted with the propriety and with the consciousness that it is good form and especially good taste for men of tall stature. The two and three button models are most recommended and for men of portliness, the one button model is comfortable and effective.

The overcoat models for this season show a return to the Chesterfield boxy effects. These are shown principally in smooth finished fabrics such as kerseys, and meltons and the colors black, blue, oxford and bottle green. These coats will be of moderate length, having well formed shoulders, collars and lapels of moderate width and body of easy fitting proportions. The lengths vary from 44 to 52 inches according to the model.

Another overcoat that will have great approval is the military overcoat with Prussian collar effect. These will be made of fancy overcoatings with gray and green as the chief colors employed. These are virtually great coats, built for comfort and protection. Some models are showing convertible collars. These are so constructed that they can be instantly changed from an ordinary lapel effect to the military collar, fitting snugly about the neck and giving complete protection. These military overcoats are made in roomy yet shapely models.

There is also a very voluminous model of this coat made in both single and double breasted styles. These latter have no belted back and are of the button-through variety. While they can be used for street wear they are a particularly clever for motoring or driving.

There is some inclination abroad to return the Paddock overcoat to favor, and the influence is asserting itself in a modest degree over here. In ultra fashionable circles some will be worn this season and the man who expects to get two winters' service out of his overcoat will be wise in having one of these, as there is surely a trend toward this graceful garment that is destined to insinuate itself with more prominence into next winter's edicts. The models shown this fall are well exaggerated over the breast, are shaped at the waist and have a liberal amount of fulness in the skirts. The waist seam extends back to the back center seam, on a downward slant, the upper part of the back having three seams. The entire complement of pockets consists of flaps of novel designs.

The Covert coat shows no variation from the recognized standard and still finds many votaries who use it for morning wear.

LET THIS BE YOUR HOME-STORE

JOHN STRANGE SAYS HE IS A CANDIDATE

Lieutenant Governor Declares He Will Make Run for Governor of Wisconsin Next Year

JUMPS OUT OF THE TRACES

Says He Has Not and Will Not Consult With Progressive Leaders to Secure Public Sentiment

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 15.—Lieut.-Governor John Strange of Neenah, has announced his candidacy for governor. He outlines in detail his position on public questions, appearing to make the state's rights in water powers his leading issue. He does not discuss the tariff question.

A few hours prior to the publication of his announcement, Mr. Strange was interviewed by the Journal, the progressive paper of Milwaukee, and answered some interesting questions, as follows:

Doesn't Figure Strength

"Have you consulted any of the other prospective candidates or their friends in order to ascertain who is the strongest man and endeavor to center all the Progressive strength on him?"

"No, I have not and I will not. I regard such a proceeding, or suggestion of it, as absolutely contrary to the spirit of the direct primary law. A man should consult no one but the voters. It is not a subject for conferences and caucuses. It is a matter for the common people to decide."

"Have you consulted the common people, Mr. Strange?"

"Yes; I have made quite an investigation."

"How do you find the sentiment?"

"I find they are discussing important issues, the great questions—"

"Oh no, Mr. Strange, I mean their sentiment about your candidacy and its timeliness?"

"Well, if I had not found the sentiment so very favorable, I would not have made up my mind to make the race. I am satisfied of enough support because of the position I hold on public questions, to justify my attitude."

"Will your announcement cover your position on these questions?"

"Yes."

Consulted No One

"But don't you think that your announcement, without any effort on your part to reach some agreement with other men mentioned for the honor, with a view to getting all factions together on some one strong man, yourself or some one else, tend to create a division in the ranks of the Progressives and probably defeat all of you? Don't you believe your hasty announcement will injure your cause and possibly change some of the sentiment now with you?"

"As I said before, the people are amply competent to decide this ques-

ROOSEVELT KING; MORRIS MAKES LAW; A CITIZEN ?—NIX ! !

That Theodore Roosevelt is king of the United States and that he makes all of the laws is the opinion of Hartvig Madson who aspires to citizenship in this land of freedom, and who yesterday made application to Judge Higbee for his final papers.

Madson got along all right until he was asked by the court, who rules the United States.

Then and there he fell down. "Ay tank he vas Teodor Roosenfeld vhat mak de law" he responded.

"But how about Wisconsin?" queeried the court.

"Oh, in Viskonsin et iss Tom Morris."

That settled it with the court. Hartvig's petition was adjourned for a week to give him a chance to study civil government.

LOCAL ENGRAVER WEDS WINONAN

Wm. Miller of La Crosse and Miss Mabel Blair of Winona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blair, were united in marriage Monday afternoon by Judge D. E. Vance at Winona. A wedding supper was served and a social evening was spent at the home of the bride's parents, 170 East Mark street, after which the couple left for a three weeks' trip in the east. They will make their home in La Crosse, where the groom is employed in the engraving business.

HE SUICIDES IN A CONFETTI STORM

THOUGHT HE WAS PLAYING

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—David W. Clark, once a man of wealth, drank poison in the cafe of the Hotel Prince George at 1 a. m. today while half a dozen young men from the Coney Island Mardi Gras scattered confetti in the room and shouted.

Clark, a man of 58, was formerly a manufacturer of varnish. He was in the habit of getting a midnight lunch at the hotel before retiring. Because of his large tips, the hotel attendants all liked him.

When he entered the hotel last night he had a hellboy bring him some stationary in the cafe and sat for some time writing, at the same time ordering a bottle of beer and a club sandwich. He poured a small quantity of liquid into the beer but did not drink it.

"Things have been breaking badly for me of late, but I guess they'll brighten up before long," he told the bartender. Just then the two automobiles drove up to the hotel and a number of young men laughing and singing entered the cafe. Hurling confetti and joking with all they passed, the young men surrounded Clark.

"They feel happy; I don't," he declared as he ordered a drink of whiskey, into which he poured more of the same liquid he had put into the beer. The men supposed it was medicine. He raised the glass to his lips and rose to his feet. The young men scattered confetti all over him and bound him with paper ribbons. Clark hesitated a second and then drained the glass. It fell from his hand and crashed on the floor. He sank to his knees. The youngsters thought he was playing a part and threw more confetti. Clarks plunged forward on his face. Before physicians arrived he was dead. The letter Clark had written was as follows:

"To the coroner of New York: Have taken cyanide of potasium. Reason, business failure and also failure of health. Please notify my brother, Dr. A. M. Clark, Alder Creek, Oneida county. If he is not at the above address he can be found at his home in Youngstown, Ohio.

"Please have my body prepared for cremation. (Signed)

"DAVID W. CLARK."

STATE RESTS CASE AGAINST MR. M'CANN

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Closely following a whirlwind finish by the state in the case of Inspector of Police Edward McCann, on trial for alleged bribery and malfeasance in office, the defense today made a motion before Judges Barnes that the case be taken from the jury.

A bomb shell was thrown into the trial late yesterday when Attorney John P. Tyrell, counsel for Max Plummer and others involved in the graft prosecution, testified under oath that Inspector McCann had asked him to shape his testimony by stretching his imagination to fit the plan of the defense.

Miss Frances Douglass, juvenile probation officer, declares she received a telephone message from a man unknown to her who threatened her in case she should testify in behalf of Inspector McCann.

That McCann will take the stand in his own behalf and deny all accusations against him was the announcement of his counsel this afternoon.

MARY HOLCOMB DENIES GUILT

Mary Holcomb, 16, charged with being immoral, was arrested and brought into county court today on complaint of her aunt. The girl entered a plea of not guilty and her case will be heard late this afternoon. She alleges that there is a conspiracy on foot to have her sent to the industrial school.

CLUE IN MILLMAN CASE

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—Peter F. Hayden, an engraver, has turned over to the prosecutor a comb and pair of gloves said to have been worn by Maybelle Millman, the murdered Ann Arbor student. It is stated that he got the articles from a young woman to whom they were given by a physician who said they would "never be needed again."

GROCERS JOIN IN PROTEST ON SALE

Association Adopts Resolutions Condemning Plan to Banish Competition

Several of the civic associations of La Crosse have in the past week, since the proposed merger between the La Crosse Telephone company and the Bell 'phone has been under consideration, passed resolutions endorsing the independent company and protesting against allowing the trust to gain a monopoly in this field. The Manufacturers' and Jobbers' club passed resolutions several days ago, and at its meeting Tuesday night resolutions were passed by the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association.

This action is in accordance with the policy of the Grocers' Association to support home industries.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, It is authoritatively stated that a proposition is being considered to consolidate the La Crosse Telephone company with the Bell Telephone system, and

"Whereas, the La Crosse Telephone company was organized by La Crosse citizens with La Crosse capital for the purpose of securing competition and giving to the citizens of La Crosse thereby lower rates and better service, and

"Whereas, the said La Crosse Telephone company has at all times given the highest standard of service at the lowest possible cost to its patrons; now therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the members of the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association, in meeting assembled, hereby protest against the proposed sale or consolidation, and appeal to the citizens who are stockholders of the La Crosse Telephone company, to oppose such sale or combination; and be it further

"Resolved, that we hereby extend our hearty support to the La Crosse Telephone company in case they remain independent in the field, and will in every honorable manner assist the said La Crosse Telephone company in its competitive operation against the Bell Telephone company.

BAILEY TO REPLY TO ATTACK BY BRYAN

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 15.—Aroused by the challenge hurled at Texas democracy and the veiled attack against himself by Wm. Jennings Bryan in his speeches yesterday, United States Senator Jos. Bailey today announced that he will take up the gauntlet thrown down by the Nebraskan.

At one point in his speech Bryan said: "Texas democrats smell kerosene so far they are afraid to take the duty off it or other raw materials."

Everyone in the audience knew he referred to Senator Bailey and his recent mixup with the Standard Oil company.

BANKERS HEAR SPEECHES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The American Bankers' association suspended its business sessions today to give its members an opportunity to attend the meetings of two of the most important "sections" of the convention, the trust company section and the clearing house section.

JOHN A. JOHNSON OPERATED UPON

Minnesota's Governor Rallies Quickly After the Knife Is Used Upon Him for Fourth Time

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 15.—Governor John A. Johnson has undergone his fourth operation for intestinal troubles and rallied quickly from the effects of the surgery, according to the bulletin just issued from St. Mary's hospital, where the operation was performed at about 9:30 this morning. The governor enjoyed a good night's rest and conditions were deemed propitious this morning for the operation. There never had been any doubt in the minds of the governor or the Doctors Mayo, the surgeons, that he would come through successfully. Mrs. Johnson was likewise confident when she was seen at 9 o'clock.

While all danger is not yet passed the governor's condition at this hour is said to promise a rapid and complete recovery.

PEARY WON'T TELL HOW COOK CHEATED

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Polar scientists are today commenting on the interview given out by Commander Peary at Battle Harbor last night in which he declined to add more details to his previous story of his dash to the pole or to say anything more regarding his controversy with Dr. Cook.

Cook's adherents here are bitter in their denunciation of Peary for his refusal to give out the information he claims to have to substantiate his claim that Dr. Cook did not reach the pole.

DEATH IN WRECK

DEFENDS HIMSELF WITH A JACKKNIFE

Gustave Kirbich Drew Weapon When Set Upon by Three Men at Ten-Mile House

RICHARD KAISER BADLY HURT

Assaulted by three men in a roadhouse in the town of Shelby known as the "Ten Mile House" last night, Gustave Kirbich, a young man residing near the saloon drew his jackknife and fought valiantly in his own defense. As a result of his prowess with the weapon Richard Kaiser is now in a serious condition with two knife wounds in his breast and Kirbich is at the county jail awaiting arraignment on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, without regard to human life.

The fracas occurred shortly after 6 o'clock when young Kirbich entered the saloon through the front door. He claims that he was no sooner inside than three of the men present, one of whom was Kaiser, assaulted him at once and that he drew his knife as a last resort to defend himself. No one was cut except Kaiser, and Dr. Dvorak who is attending him says that the victim had a narrow escape as the wounds are just over his heart. Had the blade gone between his ribs instead of being stopped by these he would surely have been killed.

Sheriff William Duncan and a man from Central police station went to the Kirbich farm last night and arrested Kaiser's assailant. He was was brought to this city and is now in jail until bail can be secured for him.

Kirbich has retained Attorneys Morris and Hartwell, and will enter a plea of not guilty when he is arraigned in county court late this afternoon.

The "Ten Mile House" is the last saloon on the road leading out from this city and is conducted by William Proksch.

Gustave Kirbich was taken into court this afternoon and bail was fixed at $2,000. An examination will be held Sept. 27th.

AUSTRIA ARRESTS ITALIAN AERONAUTS

ROME, Sept. 15.—Commander Borsalino of the Italian navy and Signor Ilonelli and Nicoli, two of the best known aeronauts in Italy, were arrested in Austria today at the completion of one of the most daring balloon flights on record, a flight from Venice across the Adriatic sea to Austria.

Details of the arrest have not yet been received but it is believed today they are charged with being military spies.

These aeronauts had long contemplated a trip across the Adriatic and they made the ascent at Venice when the wind was blowing straight to sea. The flight covered more than 100 miles.

ANOTHER AMERICAN A PRINCE'S BRIDE

DINGWALL, Scotland, Sept. 15.—Another American heiress joined the ranks of the European nobility at noon today when Miss Anita Stewart of New York, daughter of Mrs. James Henry Stewart, was married to the Prince de Braganza, son of the pretender to the Portuguese throne.

It was the first "royal wedding" celebrated in Scotland since the days of Mary Queen of Scots and the little St. Lawrence Roman Catholic church, where the nuptials were celebrated, was the scenes of its most historic function.

Among the wedding presents, the total of which was several hundred thousand dollars, was the patent from Emperor Franz Josef, creating the bride a princess in her own right. This was not intended by the emperor as a wedding present but the bride so cherished it.

WANTS PERMIT OF "CURLEW" REVOKED

NOW SHIPPED BROADCAST

Letters are being prepared to be addressed to Governor James O Davidson, asking that the permit issued by the governor to the commander and crew of the government fisheries steamer Curlew to seine land locked waters of Wisconsin for bass minnows be revoked. The demand will be based upon the claim that the fry is now being taken from the Mississippi river as well as land locked waters, and instead of being replaced in the Mississippi or other open streams, is being shipped broadcast over the United States to the detriment of Wisconsin sportsmen.

Harry L. Starr, formerly a resident of Cassville, Wis., and a prominent member of a strong organization there for the protection of fish and game, present proprietor of the Mecca buffet, is one of the leaders in the movement to save the fish for Wisconsin waters.

Mr. Starr is in communication with Deputy State Game Warden A. E. Storrs of Fennimore, near Cassville, and has communicated his ideas to Game Warden George L. Kingsley of this city.

Permit Is Violated.

It is the contention of Mr. Starr that the government fisheries crew operating the Curlew fail to confine themselves to the seining of land locked waters, and that fish are taken from the open river and from the bars in Lake Pepin, canned and shipped from La Crosse to Madison, South Dakota, New York state and various other scattered points. These shipments, it is claimed, are made through the office of State Fish Commissioner James Nevins, and Mr. Starr is trying to have some of the authority wrested from this official.

Money in Wrong Hands.

Mr. Starr is one of the fathers the Owen bill passed by the last legislature appropriating $4,500 annually to be turned over to the game wardens for the purpose of rescuing bass fry. Ten thousand was asked for and the original bill provided the fish be restored to the Mississippi

REV. BURGESS IS ZION LECTURER

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—Rev. Dr. William Burgess of La Crosse is the first lecturer to appear before a Zion City audience who was not endorsed by Dowie or his successor. Rev. Burgess lectured last night on the Bible and Shakespeare and his appearance was something of an innovation against the old Dowie autocratic ruling which shut out from Zion City all public teaching not endorsed by himself of his successor.

Dr. Burgess is author of "The Bible in Shakespeare" and other works which are taking high rank in the literary world. "But for the Bible there could never have been a Shakespeare," is one of the interesting statements made by Rev. Burgess last night.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Anti-Dowie section which is now most influential and in control of the city government against Voliva. Overseer Daniel Bryant entertained the lecturer and presided at the lecture.

HASTEN TO AID OF WRECKED PASSENGER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Passenger train number one leaving here over the N. C. and St. L. at 7 o'clock this morning collided head on with a fast freight train near Pegram station, 25 miles west of Nashville, and several are killed and missing. The cars caught fire following the wreck and are now burning. Relief and wrecking crews have gone to the scene of the wreck.

MISS ELKINS GOES TO SEE ABRUZZI

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Closely guarding her movements, Miss Katherine Elkins is reported to have left Paris this afternoon, going south in an automobile. Her friends credit the report that she is enroute to Italy, where the Duke of Abruzzi now is. At the hotel where Miss Elkins, her mother and brother have been stopping, nothing would be given out.

TAFT SPECIAL IS ON THE WAY TODAY

President Begins Tour That Will Bring Him to La Crosse Late Friday Afternoon

WAVES GOODBY TO CROWD

Throngs Cheer Him as Train Pulls Out—Thursday in Chicago First Big Day

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Amid the tumultuous cheering of thousands assembled to witness his departure, President Taft started on his 13,000 mile journey to the west and southwest at 10:30 this morning, leaving the south station in his private car Mayflower, attached to the regular Albany express. The train was composed besides the private car of the president, occupied by himself and his military aide, Captain Butt, of the parlor car, Heeliemere, containing the rest of the president's party, of a steel baggage car, the private car of Assistant General Manager Eustis of the New York Central and a day coach. As the train drew out of the station the president appeared upon the rear platform and waved a hearty good bye and good luck to the multitude gathered at the station. During the two months life on the rails, the president's comfort will be looked after by Porter W. S. Anderson, Waiter E. B. Letcher and Chef M. A. Anderson, the latter a Norwegian culinary expert in the employ of John Hayes Hammond and loaned to the president as a special mark of friendship. Anderson, the porter and Letcher, the waiter, have already traveled a number of thousand miles with the president on previous trips.

Although no formal program is arranged for before he reaches Chicago on Thursday, it is probable he will make brief addresses at the various cities through which he passes.

TIGER AT LARGE IN HEART OF BIG CITY

MARSEILLES, Sept. 15.—Ex-President Roosevelt is missing the chance of his life today by not being here to take part in a tigress hunt now in progress in the shore part of the city. The tigress, a royal Bengal, escaped from its cage aboard a vessel in the harbor yesterday, leaped to the gang plank, reached the shore and escaped among the nearby buildings.

Residents of that part of the city were in terror through the night as the animal was frequently heard to roar as though in quest of prey.

Today soldiers and police from a solid cordon about the district in which the tigress is supposed to be hiding.

The Detroit Americans threw away three chances to score runs early in the game by the worst sort of base running and handed the game to St. Louis. Both pitchers did good work, Bradley holding the champions down in the face of poor support. Three hits, bunched in the ninth, scored for the Browns and decided it.

Chicago and Cleveland played a six inning 4 to 4 tie, rain stopping it after Cleveland had scored one run in the seventh. The rain, however, caused the score to revert to the end of the sixth. Ables, a recruit from San Antonio, pitched well for Cleveland, and would have won but for the errors behind him.

Boston won the second game of the series from Washington, 5 to 2. Boston tied the score in the fourth and won in the sixth on two singles and a two bagger.

Philadelphia took both games of a double header from New York.

Egan made that in the fifth inning and was doubled up with Lobert a moment later.

Gasper for the Reds was effective in all but one inning, but then the Cubs hit him hard enough to make four runs, aided Egan's fumble. The game was played in the remarkable fast time of 1 hour and 20 minutes.

In a pitchers' battle between Rucker and Moore Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia by to 0. Moore had previously won nine straight games. Burch scored the only run of the game in the first inning on a base on balls, Wheat's beating out a bunt, Downey's sacrifice and Doolin's muff of Titus' throw to the plate on Hummel's sacrifice fly.

An error by Meyers, and Marquard's poor work in the third inning gave Boston two runs and the game. Two hits gave the Bean Eaters another run in the seventh. The New York players were unable to hit Brown when men were on the bases

GIVES NERVES REMARKABLE VIGOR
Electropodes, A Wonderful, Simple Device to Produce Astonishing Nerve Strength
How Any Man or Woman Can Get and Use Them
There is no more excuse for any man or woman suffering from nervous exhaustion, run-down condition, weak nerves, lack of ambition or energy. A wonderfully simple device, called Electropodes, is now designed to supply all the strength necessary to render the nerves strong and vigorous without having to resort to temporary stimulants, tonics or medicines of any kind.
Electropodes are not an experiment; that they produce results which can be quickly felt and even seen in an improved condition of the general system is the emphatic statement of those who have used them.
Electropodes represent a distinct advance in the application of electricity for the cure of diseases. They are reported to have a remarkable effect not only upon the nerves, but also upon the kidneys, stomach and liver, being an exceptional remedy for kidney troubles, stomach and liver derangements, neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, insomnia and weak heart.
Electropodes are metallic insoles so placed in the heels of the shoes as to be unnoticeable to the wearer. By contact with the body it is stated they electrify and invigorate every fibre, organ, nerve, and blood vessel and the condition of the system quickly changes for the better.
Electropodes are never uncomfortable, yet you feel a mighty change and increased power creeping upon you.
To prove that these statements are not in the least exaggerated The Electropode Company, of Lima, Ohio, has your druggist sign a contract that if you are not satisfied with the Electropodes at the end of 30 days' trial, you can have your money right back.
Electropodes are sold at drug stores at $1.00 a pair under contract to satisfy you. If your druggist does not have Electropodes on hand, send your remittance to the Electropode Co., Suite 17 Holland Block, Lima, Ohio, and you will get them by return mail with our contract binding us to completely satisfy you within 30 days, or positively refund your money. Say whether for lady or gentleman.

EDDIE KONETCHY NOW BATTING .394

Eddie Konetchy of this city is slowly but surely increasing his batting average until now he ranks seventh in the National league. According to the percentage issued yesterday Eddie is hitting the ball at the rate of .394, which is an increase of .014 since the last compilation of the averages about three weeks ago. Eddie leads the league with the total number of three base hits having annexed a sum of 13 triples. He has also 17 twobaggers and 4 home runs. Eddie also ranks seventh in the list of leading run getters having a total of 71 runs in 175 games.

At the present time Hoblitzel the Cincinnati first sacker is the leading batter in the National league with an average of .468, a remarkable record. Wagner of Pitsburg is a close second with 464.

CHICAGO SQUAD OUT STAGG OPTIMISTIC

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Coach A. A. Stagg arrived at Chicago university with some strenuous plan for starting the football season of 1909. The Maroon general has been in the far west and declares from a bird's eye view the gridiron outlook is "fair."

Stagg issued a call today for every member of the squad to put in appearance Monday and intimated that the stiffest kind of work would be tackled right from the start. Nine "C" men are lined up and while some of the likely candidates did not return to school, Stagg is not downcast over his collection of "subs."

Stagg thinks that his games at the very outset of the season when Chicago plays Purdue and Indiana, will furnish a convincing line on just what the glory of the university has to depend upon on the gridiron this year.

Striking Indian Nomenclature.
"Muskoka," Clear Sky Land; "Maganetewan," Smooth Flowing Water; "Kawartha," Bright Water and Happy Lands; "Temagami," Deep Water; "Wawa," The Flying Goose; are Indian words that fittingly describe some of the most delightful spots for a summer's outing on the American continent. All reached at special low round trip fares via Grand Trunk Railway System. Double track from Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Particulars of fares, descriptive literature, time tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to W. S. Cookson, A. G. P. A., 135 Adams street, Chicago.

LANGFORD FEARS STANLEY KETCHEL

NORTHBORO, Mass., Sept. 15.—Satisfied that in meeting Stanley Ketchel on Friday night he will be up against one of the hardest fights of his career, Sam Langford is training here today as he has never trained before. With Geo. Baers, as his sparring partner, the Boston black is hustling over the roads and bending to his indoor work with vim. Never, according to those who have watched his work, has Langford been in better shape and if he is not the victor on Friday night it will be simply because the "Michigan assassin" can show superior speed and stamina.

WRESTLER ARRESTED FOR WIFE DESERTION

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Old Man Law got a half Nelson on Frank Parker, the wrestler, here today for deserting his wife in Toledo, Ohio, and the mat artist is a prisoner at Central station. He was arrested on complaint of the Toledo police who charged that he deserted his wife and baby two months ago. Officers from Toledo sent word that they would come to Chicago for their prisoner today. Parker announced a few days ago that he intended challenging Frank Gotch, the American champion.

WOODBURY writes about His Famous HAIR TONIC

Extract from an article written by the Master Dermatologist when Woodbury's combination Hair and Scalp Treatment was first successfully prepared for Home Use.

"The formula under which this Hair Tonic is made was tested and improved for over thirty-five years before a bottle was sold through the stores."

"For over thirty-five years this Tonic has been used in the enormous practice of John H. Woodbury's Dermatological Institute."

"Millions of cases were treated, and after their cure the patients continued the use of this Tonic as a delightful refreshment to the scalp and to keep the hair soft, rich and glossy."

If you don't see Woodbury's face on the label it's an imitation.

"This necessarily meant repeated calls at the Woodbury Institute, often at the inconvenience of patients living at a distance."

"To supply this demand, and the growing call from those who had not been treated, for a Hair Tonic which was scientifically successful (not a mere commercial product) this Tonic has now been put on the market and can hereafter be had from all reputable dealers."

Now, right in your own home, you can use the preparations formerly supplied only to office patients of the Institute. No other preparations for the Hair and Scalp are backed up by the same unlimited experience. No others give such quick and such satisfactory results.

Woodbury's Hair Tonic saves the hair when all other preparations fail. It prevents dandruff; stops falling hair, and instantly relieves itching scalp. It restores the lustre to the hair; preserves it's natural color; increases its vitality and makes it beautiful and abundant.

Everyone Endorses Woodbury's

Hair Now Growing Nicely.
My hair stopped falling out just as soon as I used the Woodbury's Scalp Cream in conjunction with the Scalp Cleaner. It's action was just like magic. The thick greasy dandruff is all gone. My hair is growing nicely and taking on a new growth. Your Hair Tonic I use night and morning, and it is the nicest hair dressing I have ever used. Thanking you for the letters of advice, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
Mrs. JOHN F. HOWSON,
498 Quincy Street, Brooklyn.

This Specialist Uses Woodbury's
After ten years of careful study, and close observation of all conditions of the hair and scalp, I find the Woodbury method of treatment most successful of all. It is based on the most correct scientific principles. In cases of scalp disease the Woodbury preparations go right to the root of the trouble, and their curative and stimulating properties are remarkable. Am now using them exclusively in my offices and the results obtained are most satisfactory.
JAMES B. QUINN,
Hair and Scalp Specialist,
Monolith Building, New York City

Quick Results Pleased Him.
The dandruff and itching scalp were terrible and my hair was thinning out over the temples and at the back of my head at an alarming rate. Nothing seemed to help until I used the Woodbury remedies, but good results were then noticed from the start, and in a few days the dandruff was entirely gone and new hairs began to show. What pleased me most was that results were so quick. The Woodbury Hair and Scalp Remedies certainly make the hair grow.
Yours very truly,

ATTELL DISGUSTS BOSTON FIGHT FANS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Abe Attell, world's champion featherweight, is in no good odor today with the Boston fight fans. In his fight with Tommy O'Toole last night, there was no doubt that he could have put out the Philadelphia boy at any stage, but foxy Abe stalled along and the two burlesqued through a long and wearysome twelve rounds.

O'Toole could not box in the same class with Attell, but what real fighting there was, he made.

OPEN CHICAGO GOLF TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—According to the pairings in the western open golf championship which begins at Skookie tomorrow, John Croke and Paul Kirchner start first at 9 o'clock. Others will leave at five minute intervals. Western Champion Will C. Anderson of St. Louis has the honor of being paired with National Champion Geo. Sargent. Lawrence Auchterlonie of Glenview and Frederick McLeod, former national champions, will play together. Gardner holds the record, 69 strokes at Skookie. Of those who practiced over the course, Robert Simpson of Milwaukee, former title holder has low score.

SPOTLIGHTS

YANKEE DOODLE CO. POPULAR

Last night a large audience saw the Yankee Doodle players present the farce comedy, "Hello Bill" and the general concensus of opinion seems to be that the company's interpretation of this funny piece is away above the standard companies. The situations in the play are refreshing and grow funnier with every new complication that confronts the characters in their vain attempts to escape from the difficulty which was in itself very trifling compared with the tangle of trouble that followed their attempts to conceal it from their friends. There is not a dull moment in the piece nor a word or hint that is in the least suggestive. The fun is fast, clean and hilarious, particulary at the climaxes, making "Hello Bill" a rarety among farce comedies.

The play for tonight, "The Queen of The White Slaves" is founded upon an actual story of the kidnaping of a white girl in San Francisco by a notorious Chinese Slave Dealer assisted by the once famous cadets of that city's underground underworld, and which occurence is known in international diplomatic circles as the Elsie Johnson incident is one of the most startling realistic stage stories that have been written, and as produced by the Yankee Doodle Company with special scenery and effects and from the original manuscript of the play offers to the La Crosse Theater patrons what is perhaps the most powerful and gripping melodrama ever seen in this city.

The rendezvous of the Terrible Nine in the third act, with its wierd gloom, the burning joss sticks, the flaming furnace of the torture chamber and the gong of death, all presided over by Fong Low, the sardonic chief of the shrouded members of the council whose heartless cruelty stands out in terrible relief against the beauty and distress of his heart broken victim, makes a stage picture, the equal of which has seldom been painted by a playwright.

A strong line of comedy relieves the tense seriousness of the piece and contributes to it that proportion of light and shade that is necessary to the successful modern melodrama, and as usual a complete change of vaudeville and orchestral numbers will attend the production of the piece.

On Thursday night, the bill will be a comedy drama in four acts entitled, "Canny's Cross Roads."

"Lena Rivers"

Announcement that "Lena Rivers" will be offered at the La Crosse Theater next Sunday afternoon and evening, naturally brings a throb of joy to the hearts of playgoers. The book of the same name from which Beulah Poynter made her dramatization is by Mrs. Mary J. Holmes which assures a first class play with plenty of comedy and a profusion of tears. A crowded house is almost a certainty.

Mrs. Carter Monday

After booking a road tour and announcements being made in the various cities of coming engagement several different times during the past three years, which were afterwards cancelled to permit extensions of time in New York, Chicago and Boston, Mrs. Leslie Carter announces that she will positively appear at the La Crosse Theater, Monday Sept. 20. Mrs. Carter comes to this city under her own management, presenting herself in a mammoth production of a new poetical drama called "Kassa," by John Luther Long. It requires six of the largest baggage cars to transport the scenery and effects and more than one hundred people are employed in the presentation. The extravagance with which Mrs. Carter has mounted the play even astonished New Yorkers. She designed and supervised the preparation of the entire production herself and it is credited by many who witnessed it at the Liberty Theater in New York with being the most complete and perfect display of stagecraft ever presented in this country.

Mary's Lamb Sept. 23

When he comes to the La Crosse Theater Thursday, Sept. 23, Richard Carle will "present himself" in his newest musical comedy success "Mary's Lamb." As was the case with all his previous plays, "Mary's Lamb" is from Mr. Carle's own fountain pen—only in this instance he has utilized a French farce as the basis of his plot. The elongated comedian has the role of a hen-pecked husband. In his support are Julia Ralph, Adele Archer, Sylvian Langlois, George Gogues, Abbott Adams and others, including a wonderfully agile and pretty chorus.

GET BUSY AND WIN "LO" PRIZE.

The "Lo" puzzle contest begins today.

You will find the first section of figures in this issue, which you are to cut out and save. Tomorrow and on the five succeeding nights cut out the remainder of the portions and you will have taken the first step towards winning the first nine sets of prizes, offered by The Tribune.

The contest is open to all readers of The Tribune. No two prizes will be delivered to the same family, nor to any one connected with this paper, the theater or the "Lo" company. The first nine on the ground will get the trophies, so return your solutions to The Tribune as soon as possible.

win Sloan collaboration "Lo" which comes to the La Crosse theater, matinee and night, Saturday, Sept. 25th.

Paste neatly on cardboard and return to contest editor of The Tribune as soon as possible. For the first nine sets of correct answers received, The Tribune will distribute seats. Without all the sections the puzzle cannot be solved. Each participant must write his or her complete name on the back of the complete puzzle and send to contest editor with a self addressed envelope, stamped.

As the replies are received they will be numbered and the rewards be as follows: To the first two correct replies, two box seats each; to the next three correct replies, two orchestra seats each; to the next four, one seat each. The winners' names with the complete puzzle will appear in The Tribune on Friday, Sept. 24th.

THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

(Copyright.)

Liddy was sleeping the sleep of the just when I went up-stairs, and I hunted out my things cautiously. The detective was waiting in the hall, and I was astonished to see Doctor Stewart with him. They were talking confidentially together, but when I came down they ceased. There were a few preparations to be made: the locks to be gone over, Winters to be instructed as to renewed vigilance, and then, after extinguishing the hall light, we crept in the darkness, through the front door, and into the night.

I asked no questions. I felt that they were doing me honor in making me one of the party, and I would show them I could be as silent as they. We went across the fields, passing through the woods that reached almost to the ruins of the stable, going over stiles now and then, and sometimes stepping over low fences. Once only somebody spoke, and then it was an emphatic bit of profanity from Doctor Stewart when he ran into a wire fence.

We were joined at the end of five minutes by another man, who fell into step with the doctor silently. He carried something over his shoulder which I could not make out. In this way we walked for perhaps twenty minutes. I had lost all sense of direction; I merely stumbled along in silence, allowing Mr. Jamieson to guide me this way or that as the path demanded. I hardly know what I expected. Once, when through a miscalculation I jumped a little short over a ditch and landed above my shoe-tops in the water and ooze, I remember wondering if this were really I, and if I had ever tasted life until that summer. I walked along with the water sloshing in my boots, and I was actually cheerful. I remember whispering to Mr. Jamieson that I had never seen the stars so lovely, and that it was a mistake, when the Lord had made the night so beautiful, to sleep through it!

The doctor was puffing somewhat when we finally came to a halt. I fess that just at that minute even Sunnyside seemed a cheerful spot. We had paused at the edge of a level cleared place, bordered all around with primly trimmed evergreen trees. Between them I caught a glimpse of starlight shining down on rows of white headstones and an occasional more imposing monument or towering shaft. We were on the edge of the Casanova churchyard.

I saw now both the man who had joined the party and the implements he carried. It was Alex, armed with two long-handled spades. After the first shock of surprise, I flatter myself I was both cool and quiet. We went in single file between the rows of headstones, and although, when I found myself last, I had an instinctive desire to keep looking back over my shoulder, I found that, the first uneasiness past, a cemetery at night is much the same as any other country place, filled with vague shadows and unexpected noises. Once, indeed—but Mr. Jamieson said it was an owl, and I tried to believe him.

In the shadow of the Armstrong granite shaft we stopped. I think the doctor wanted to send me back.

"It's no place for a woman," I heard him protesting angrily. But the detective said something about witnesses, and the doctor only came over and felt my pulse.

"Anyhow, I don't believe you're any worse off here than you would be in that nightmare of a house," he said finally, and put his coat on the steps of the shaft for me to sit on.

There is an air of finality about a grave; one watches the earth thrown in, with the feeling that this is the end. Whatever has gone before, whatever is to come in eternity, that particular temple of the soul has been given back to the elements from which it came. Thus, there is a sense of desecration, of a reversal of the everlasting fitnes of things, in resurrecting a body from its mother clay. And yet that night, in the Casanova churchyard, I sat quietly by, and watched Alex and Mr. Jamieson steaming over their work, without a single qualm, except the fear of detection.

The doctor kept a keen lookout, but no one appeared. Once in a while he came over to me, and gave me a reassuring pat on the shoulder.

"I never expected to come to this," he said once. "There's one thing sure—I'll not be suspected of complicity. A doctor is generally supposed to be handier at burying folks than at digging them up."

The uncanny moment came when Alex and Jamieson tossed the spades on the grass, and I confess I hid my face. There was a period of stress, I think, while the heavy coffin was being raised. I felt that my composure was going, and, for fear I would shriek, I tried to think of something else—what time Gertrude would reach Halsey—anything but the grisly reality that lay just beyond me on the grass.

And then I heard a low exclamation from the detective and I felt the pressure of the doctor's fingers on my arm.

"Now, Miss Innes," he said gently, "if you will come over—"

I held on to him frantically, and somehow I got there and looked down. The lid of the casket had been raised and a silver plate on it proved we had made no mistake. But the face that showed in the light of the lantern was a face I had never seen before. The man who lay before us was not Paul Armstrong!

CHAPTER XXXI.

Between Two Fireplaces.

What with the excitement of the discovery, the walk home under the stars in wet shoes and draggled skirts, and getting up-stairs and undressed without rousing Liddy, I was completely used up. What to do with my boots was the greatest puzzle of all, there being no place in the house safe from Liddy, until I decided to slip up-stairs the next morning and drop them into the hole the "ghost" had made in the trunk-room wall.

I went asleep as soon as I reached this decision, and in my dreams I lived over again the events of the night. Again I saw the group around the silent figure on the grass, and again, as had happened at the grave, I heard Alex's voice, tense and triumphant:

"Then we've got them," he said. Only, in my dreams, he said it over and over until he seemed to shriek it in my ears.

I wakened early, in spite of my fatigue, and lay there thinking. Who was Alex? I no longer believed that he was a gardener. Who was the man whose body we had resurrected? And where was Paul Armstrong? Probably living safely in some extraditionless country on the fortune he had stolen. Did Louise and her mother know of the shameful and wicked deception? What had Thomas known, and Mrs. Watson? Who was Nina Carrington?

This last question, it seemed to me, was answered. In some way the woman had learned of the substitution, and had tried to use her knowledge for blackmail. Nina Carrington's own story died with her, but, however it happened, it was clear that she had carried her knowledge to Halsey the afternoon Gertrude and I were looking for clues to the man I had shot on the east veranda. Halsey had been half crazed by what he heard; it was evident that Louise was marrying Doctor Walker to keep the shameful secret, for her mother's sake. Halsey, always reckless, had gone at once to Doctor Walker and denounced him. There had been a scene, and he left on his way to the station to meet and notify Mr. Jamieson of what he had learned. The doctor was active mentally and physically. Accompanied perhaps by Riggs, who had shown himself not overscrupulous until he quarreled with his employer, he had gone across to the railroad embankment, and, by jumping in front of the car, had caused Halsey to swerve. The rest of the story we knew.

That was my reconstructed theory of that afternoon and evening; it was almost correct—not quite.

BLOWS UP FRIEND LIKE A BALLOON

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—With his body blown to an enormous size, John Mis Miscoho of Whiting, Ind., is dying in a local hospital as the result of a "practical joke" played upon him by his friend, Michael Yokish. A warrant charging murder has been sworn out for Yokish.

The two men were employed by the Standard Oil company at Whiting. They were joking when Yokish laughingly seized an airhose having 110 pounds of pressure to the inch and pointed it at Miscoho, turning open the stopcock. The force of the air tore away Miscoho's intestines and inflated his whole body horribly.

Number 6085

Mr. Richard Gunn, who has recently secured an excellent postion as assistant Roadmaster for the Southern Pacific Railroad, Los Angeles, Cal.

Richard is an old La Crosse boy and is certainly making good. We believe that young people in selecting a business school should select a school which offers you the proof of what it is doing. For three years we have published the names of the graduates whom we are sending to positions. Why can't we have your name on our list next year? Prospects of the W. B. U. were never brighter, both for attendance and the success of its graduates. The numerous competitors of the W. B. U. have circulated many false and malicious statements. The W. B U. was never stronger financially, never had a stronger faculty, and its graduates were never in greater demand than today. We respectfully refer you to the National bank, Security Savings bank, State bank and the Batavian National bank as to our financial responsibility and the work of our school. We suggest that you make the same inquiry concerning other schools. The following are a few things the W. B. U. has which you will not find in other schools: Complete banking department, having more than $200,000 in college currency used in the handling of its business; complete loose leaf ledger equipments; Burrough's adding machine; duplicating machines of the latest type; 6085 graduates in positions; 500 students located the past year. Ask any responsible business man what business school to attend. If you are interested, address the Wisconsin Business University, La Crosse, Wis.

OUR GREAT NORMAL

It is doubtful if any normal school ever started out with brighter prospects than has the La Crosse normal. It holds the record for first attendance, it has a fine field, it has splendid building and equipment and grounds that will become delightful, it is situated in a thriving, live community whose people have great pride in the school and its work.

But that which gives more promise than the mere physical advantages of the school is its splendid organization. In both attainments and efficiency the faculty is pronounced to be of unusually high standard, and the promptness with which they have turned the institution into a working concern operating with the finish and precision that usually comes only with long establishment shows how well they know their business. The people of La Crosse will find pleasure in contemplating the initial succes of the normal, and will join with Secretary Kittle in congratulating President Cotton upon the splendid beginning that has been made.

A LITTLE BIT STRANGE

The announcement of Lieut. Gov. John Strange that he will be a candidate for governor was not entirely unexpected, but it will be received with some misgiving by many leading progressives on the ground that he is not the choice of a majority of his faction. It will be felt that his interruption of a deliberate plan to sound public sentiment with the purpose of avoiding a split in the progressive ranks was unwise, and that the Oshkosh man may later regret his hasty action.

How the step of Mr. Strange will affect the other tentative candidates is uncertain. The probability is, however, they will proceed to determine by some sound means who is the strongest man before the people, and that unless Mr. Strange is found to be that man, the party will unite upon another candidate.

At a baseball game between the "Fats" and the "Leans" at Waconia, a baserunner collided with a baseman so that both were injured. While portliness may be a handicap to a baserunner a little padding is sometimes advisable.

The investigating committee was investigated and found wanting. Now who'll suggest investigating the investigators because they didn't investigate the statutes before they began to investigate?

Four cows at Osakis broke out of their pasture into a neighbors cornfield and ate themselves to death. Osakis cows are not up to the Minnesota standard for company manners.

Big Stone, S. D., has secured a large factory at which all kinds of boats and launches will be built. Big Stone is not the kind of rolling stone that gathers no moss.

Cashton is to dedicate a new municipal building and light plant to cost $18,000. This is but one example of the thrift of towns in the vicinity of La Crosse.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nine people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Samose, the great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it any nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat, and which does not build up good healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a nautral manner, and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, O. T. Erhart will return your money without any quibbling.

THE EDITOR ANALYZED

If Webster had ever worked for an Editor he could never define him without using cuss words. The Editor is almost human sometimes but most of the time he is a queer duck. He has a nose for news like a duck. He has one big ear which he lends to publik opinion and scandal. The other small one he lends to his creditors. The Editor allways smoks a corn-cob pipe on ackount of its ekonomy and besides it holes more dope for ideas. The Editor never has much hare. He rubs most of it off wile writing edictorials on the tariff question. When the Editor looses his shears and paste-pot he is also lost. A Editor and his shears and pastepot are inseparible. A Editor smils only when he is having his pictur took which is not often. When anybody wants to find out something they ask the Editor; if he don't no he will make you think he does. Anyway the Editor is a supearear person because he is usually able to make his bluff good. More can be said about Editors than any other specys especially by printers and reporters.

A Editor is often a has-been printer and he is proud of the fack but he don't like printers. Contrary to the geniral rule the Editor is made not born. He is made like a mashine so that he can work like one. His weeks often run amuk like one, but he allways gets them together by the time the next isshu goes to press. A Editor nos all about politicks but he is not a politshun. He rites but he can't talk. Politishuns talk but it is the Editor who correcks there grammar and spellin'. Editors dont no when they are telling the truth because it would not fill more than ¼ of the paper. If ignorance is bliss it is folle to be wise, so the Editor is wise when it serves his purpose. A Editor never takes a vacation unless it is to attend a meeting of the nashinal editorial assosceashun. When the Editor goes home he cusses everybody round the shop for not getting out a good paper in his absence, but he nos all the time that his absence was an emprovement. — Tacoma (Wash.) Lovey's Thoughtfulness

"George, dear," said Mrs. Dovekins who had come down stairs in time to pour the coffee, "I'm going to walk to the car with you this morning. Aren't you glad?"

"Very glad, indeed, lovey. It's so nice of you to think of me and to get up early for the purpose of making it unnecessary to walk those dismal three blocks alone. How much do you want?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Kind He Was

A kindly lady who lives in New Jersey, evinces great interest in the personal welfare of her servants, an interest which led her not long since to make inquiry of a new maid of all work touching the latter's domestic felicities.

"I understand, Nora," said she, "that you have a model husband."

"Shure, mum, he's the fotnest a gyurl could have," was the enthusiastic response. "If ye could see th' way he trates me, mum, ye'd be after savin' he were a frind instid of a husband." Harper's Weekly.

WOMEN'S WOES

La Crosse Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Anna Peters, 1123 S. Third St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "In 1902 I had an attack of La Grippe and this affected my kidneys. I felt tired and miserable and soon began to suffer from pains in my kidneys. The secretions from these organs were also disordered. A few months ago my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I obtained a box at Erhart's drug store. I wish to express my gratefulness for the relief this remedy brought me."

PEARY AGAIN SAYS COOK IS A FAKIR

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Reiterating that Dr. Cook has falsified in his declaration that he has reached the north pole but giving little further details of his own dash and omitting entirely any mention of Harry Whitney, Commander Peary today is quoted here in a message by wireless from Battle Harbor via Cape Ray, N. F.

Replying to an interrogation as to Mr. Cook's claim, Peary replied that "It was simply untrue."

Harold MacGrath's NEW NOVEL

The Goose Girl

Harold MacGrath, a writer whose name fiction readers are wont to conjure with, has set the pace for the fall fiction, and it's a pretty good pace. "The Goose Girl" is the title of this first fall product, and The Bobbs-Merrill Company is publishing it. It is a title that sounds well, but the reader will be pleased to find several characters outlined on the leaves of this, MacGrath's best book, that will appeal to them fully as much as the humble virtuous, lovable "goose girl."—Boston Globe.

The residents in the three blocks on Rose street, north of Windsor street, are up in arms because of the erection of electric light poles on their boulevards. The poles have been placed adjacent to the sidewalk so that the projecting arms on which the wires are strung hang over the walks. The residents claim that this is dangerous and point to the winter time when ice and the sleet on the wires will be falling directly down on pedestrians who may be on the walk at that time. There is also danger of wires which may be broken falling on the walks and causing trouble.

According to an ordinance passed by the common council some time ago all electric light poles must be placed in alleys. The people say that if the light company had placed the poles at the outer edge of the boulevards the matter would not have been so dangerous, but the present situation is declared to be a menace to the public at large.

Some of the residents are investigating the matter and it is probable that they will secure an injunction preventing the erection of more poles and seeking the removal of those which are already put up.

JOHN STRANGE SAYS HE IS A CANDIDATE

tion. I do not believe any one should presume to anticipate their wishes in the matter by picking the candidate. It may cause some contention and strife, but you know no great reform was ever accomplished without warfare and pain and temporary defeats."

The Announcement

Lieut. Governor Strange's announcement follows:

"Fully mindful of the great uncertainties confronting any citizen who enters a contest for honorable office, and realizing the vast responsibilities resting upon the successful contestant, I have decided to become a candidate for the high position of governor of Wisconsin.

"This decision has not been reached without conference with many citizens of whose high regard for the interests of the people of this—my native state—I am well assured.

"Associated with the honor of election to this office I believe there is opportunity to do many needed things in the direction of improving the rules or laws made for our observance.

"The law recently enacted to nominate candidates for office by direct vote of the people, under the Australian ballot, was intended to broaden the spirit of democracy and to encourage voters to participate in the first and most important feature of our political government. It appears reasonable to believe that we, the people, might prove best able to select men whom we desired to entrust with making and administering our laws. That deduction still seems logical to me.

UNDERWOOD PASSES CITY FOR A REST

President Earling Won't Let Milwaukee's General Manager Resign

Owing to ill health due to overwork, W. J. Underwood, general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, has tendered his resignation to President A. J. Earling, who has refused to accept it. Mr. Underwood has been granted a leave of absence so that he may be free from the cares of office.

Mr. Underwood passed through La Crosse yesterday on his way to his country place near Farmington. He traveled in a private car and was accompanied by his wife.

Orders issued from the general office in Chicago announce the appointment of General Superintendent Davis L. Bush as acting general manager. In local circles this is taken to mean that Mr. Underwood will not be back at his desk for some time.

ENGINE CREW IS SAVED BY JUMPING

By jumping from their engine when it went off the tracks at Portage, Monday evening, and toppled over on its side, Engineer Patrick O'Byrne, Fireman Edward Pugh and Conductor Julius Lawrence, acting in the capacity of brakeman, saved themselves from serious injury and perhaps death.

The three men were employed on the La Crosse division of the Milwaukee road, and are well known to trainmen in this city.

The men were on locomotive No. 2074, which was pulling a freight out of the yards at Portage, and was already under fair headway, when the accident happened. When near the Freeland tank factory the engine left the tracks and the men jumped. Lawrence was badly bruised on the arm, shoulder and hips, while the others escaped unhurt.

The steam derrick was taken to the scene yesterday and the engine, after being derricked to the rails, was taken to the round house for minor repairs.

It is thought that the accident was due to the weakening of the roadbed due to the severe rain storms of the last few days.

"The primary election law was made to be respected, and candidates for office under it were presumed to be respectable. That men proved weak and unworthy is not conclusive, by any means, that the law is censurable.

"I am strongly in favor of adding to the primary law a provision for punishing candidates for office who attempt in any way to influence voters by the use of money, or anything that involves expenditure of money other than a candidate's traveling and hotel expenses in his own behalf.

"I am confident that the people will provide meeting places for the purpose of permitting candidates to appear before them and present their reasons for expecting support, and that the attendance at such meetings will be greater than it has been where the meeting was planned and paid for by a candidate.

"Experience has convinced me that the voters of Wisconsin approve of clean political methods, and that an overwhelming majority favors the prohibition of the use of money by candidates seeking office.

"In my campaign for the office of governor I shall not use money in any way except to pay necessary traveling and hotel expenses while engaged in visiting the people throughout the state.

"I am opposed to 'tax dodging,' and I believe that if the laws governing the assessment of taxation were enforced as they should be and can be that the 'burden' would be very greatly lessened.

"I am fully satisfied that the wealth and the revenues of the state may be greatly increased by the adoption of wise and fair rules or laws for take control of the great waterpowers within its borders.

"I am not in favor of confiscation, nor unfairness in the consideration of this great and important source of wealth; I am not in favor of privileges to define or construe the words esen to define or construe the words confiscation or fairness in their interest, and against the interest and rights of the people of Wisconsin.

"The state may, and should receive, ultimately, an income of not less than a million dollars a year from her interest as lessor of waterpowers, and I am opposed to giving away any portion of this wealth into the hands of men or corporations.

"The fallacy of continuing such a rule as has governed in the past is clearly shown by many instances of abuses that have greatly impeded the development of this, and other states.

"I am in favor of the state's buying all of the timbered or cut over lands that can be had at reasonable prices and without burden, for the purpose of increasing our forest area, and conserving for the people this valuable source of permanent income.

"A graded income tax would lessen the burdens of the poor payer of direct tax, and I am in favor of adding much to the state's revenue through this source.

"Much harm to representative government has been done through poli-

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR CHAS. MILLER

RESOLUTIONS ARE PREPARED

Attorney Frank Winter Reads Memorial Which Is Spread Upon the Record

Solemn memorial services to the memory of the late Charles B. Miller were held this afternoon in the circuit court chambers, by the La Crosse County Bar association of which Mr. Miller was a member. Attorneys from the association spoke briefly of the deceased and Attorney Frank Winter read the resolutions prepared by a committee from the association for the occasion. There was no regular program of speakers, the addresses being voluntary and extemporaneous. Judge E. C. Higbee presided.

The resolutions read by Mr. Winter were as follows:

Resolutions

In accordance with established custom and pursuant to instructions from La Crosse County Bar association, your committee present to this court a memorial of the late Charles B. Miller, and offer resolutions in commemoration of his life and character.

Charles B. Miller died at his home in the city of La Crosse on the 8th day of June, 1909, after a lingering illness, surrounded by a loving family and relatives. While a long sufferer, yet his demise came suddenly and unexpectedly, and caused a severe shock to his relatives and a multitude of friends.

Charles B. Miller was born in La Crosse, September 13th, 1856, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Miller. He attended the parochial schools and later entered the public schools, graduating from the La Crosse high school under Professor Varney. After completing his common school education, he went to the St. Francis seminary at Milwaukee with the intention of studying for the priesthood. Later he attended St. John's college at St. Cloud, Minn., and also a college at Fond du Lac. While attending school he changed his plans and took up a law course.

Admitted to the Bar in 1881

Upon returning to La Crosse, he entered the law office of Wing & Prentiss, where he studied law with George H. Gordon, who was in the same office at the time. In 1881 the deceased was admitted to the bar and a few years afterwards he formed a co-partnership with E. J. Hughes, under the firm name of Hughes & Miller. Later the late G. C. Prentiss entered the firm, and the name was changed to Prentiss, Hughes & Miller. When Mr. Hughes was elected county judge the firm was dissolved, and Mr. Miller opened an office of his own. In November, 1894, he formed a co-partnership with William F. Wolfe, under the firm name of Miller & Wolfe, which continued until four years ago, when it was dissolved. Since that time he practiced alone.

The deceased was united in marriage in November, 1883, to Miss Anna Kevin. To them were born five children, Marian, Genevieve, Carl, Julia and Marcellus. Mrs. Miller died ten years ago last November, and on January 10th, 1900, Mr. Miller was again married to Miss Mary Kevin, who with the children, survive him.

The deceased was a prominent member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, having for a number of years been a trustee of that organization. He was a member of St. Joseph's Liebesbund, Third Ward Aid society, Travellers' Protective association and the Improved Order of Redmen.

A Public Spirited Citizen

Born in the city he loved so well, he lived in it practically from its unpretentious beginning until it attained its present splendid proportions, and in many phases of its industrial, aesthetic and moral development, he took a conspicuous part. He was always alive to any enterprise that led to the betterment or enlargement of our city and ardently supported every movement tending towards municipal improvement.

Politically Mr. Miller was a democrat from pare to core during his entire matured life and was often honored by his party by being selected as its representative in local and state conventions. He followed the party through all its vicissitudes, and was steadfast to its principles, at times when many forsook it on the ground of expediency. He never held high political office, because he did not seek it, and because his party was in the minority in this section of Wisconsin, except for brief and intermittent periods from the time he reached his majority until he died.

Was Member of Catholic Church

In religion Mr. Miller was an ardent member of the Great Roman Catholic church. To it he rendered a devotion that was admirable. The duriments of his religious education having been supplemented by a thorough course of training in higher institutions of learning connected with the church, preparatory to entering the priesthood he was familiar with the truths and teachings of the church and appreciated its philosophy. He entered enthusiastically into the charitable and sociological work, which is so successfully carried on by that church, and it can safely be said that for twenty years he was one of the best known and most active Catholic laymen in Wisconsin. For many years he was a director and vice president of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, an institution which, in addition to its benevolent work, has met with wonderful success as a fraternal insurance company. His official duties in this connection brought him into contact with a large number of people throughout the state who appreciated his acumen and business ability. In the foolish and underhanded war of a decade and a half ago, instituted by a narrow minded and nativistic element against his church, known as the A. P. A. movement, he did much to preserve the practical right of every man to "worship Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience," and that "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the state" as provided for and guaranteed by our constitution.

Preferred Comercial Law

As a lawyer, Mr. Miller liked some phases of his profession and disliked others. None appreciated better than he his strength and his weaknesses in this regard. He shrank from the actual trial of cases and ordinarily allowed his associates to attend to that part of the work. He preferred the branches commonly called commercial, probate and real estate law, and was grounded in the substantiative law pertaining thereto, and kept up with the latest adjudications in these fields. He was an enthusiastic worker and had a large clientage which he held up to the time of the commencement of his fatal illness.

In his home life he was in many respects exemplary. He was twice married and each time was blessed with a kind, appreciative and devoted wife. To his children all born of his first wife, he was devoted to a degree that always commanded admiration. A most liberal provider, a firm but kind monitor, he reared a family of which any man might well be proud, and in which his whole soul was wrapped up. Their devotion to him was equally great. His loss to them is too great, to sacred for any words of ours to palliate or assuage.

Had Many Friends

As a man Mr. Miller always enjoyed a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He had a kindly disposition, vivacious spirit and a fund of anecdotes, which made him popular with his associates. When aggravated, he was impulsive and his manner peremptory, but he held no grudges and his spirit of forgiveness tolerated no lasting enmities. He was large hearted and liberal beyond the capacity of the average man. Many times this feature of his nature was taken advantage of by the sinister and unprincipled, causing him considerable financial losses. All in all, he filled a niche in our citizenship that is vacant. His passing away in the full vigor of matured manhood left a void in the hearts of many friends. The unusual demonstration among those within his church and without, among our citizens and his neighbors in all positions in life, as the last sad rites were performed over his mortal remains, attested their grief and the esteem in which he was held as a friend, a neighbor and a benefactor. May he receive, as he confidently expected he would, that just judgment from the final arbiter of all things immortal that his deeds as a father, a husband, a lawyer and a citizen meet, and let us who live after profit by and remember him for the good deeds he has done.

We offer this memorial together with the following resolution for adoption:

Resolutions

Resolved, that the bar of La Crosse county suffered a great loss by and is sorely bereaved at the death of Charles B. Miller; that as a husband and father he was faithful and of known probity; that as a lawyer and citizen he was genial, companionable and a man of great energy and activity, and that we mourn his loss.

Resolved further, that the sympathy of the bar is hereby extended to the bereaved family and friends of the deceased.

Resolved further, that a copy of this memorial and these resolutions be spread upon the records and that the secretary be instructed to furnish a copy to the widow and for publication.

JOHN STRANGE SAYS HE IS A CANDIDATE

local bosses acting without authority from the voters, and chief among these bosses have been the chairmen of the central committees.

"I am in favor of abolishing this office, or rather modifying it to the choosing of a campaign chairman whose service shall begin after the primary election, and end within thirty days after the first general election.

"The legislature should be organized by the representatives elected by the people, and not by a state chairman. I do not mean to have this reflect on any individual chairman, but generally.

"I am opposed to permitting appointees or employes of the state devoting any time or money, while employed, to the promotion or prevention of the interest of any candidate for office.

"I think political graft should be severely punished.

"I disapprove of combinations in restraint of trade, and I never did like a real trust, neither do I take much stock in the 'bogey man.'

"While it may appear premature to submit this letter to the voters of Wisconsin at this time, it seems to me that it is best to begin consideration of so important a matter early enough to enable candidates and voters to meet and discuss the very important political issues now confronting Wisconsin.

"If the honor of nomination and election becomes mine I shall honestly and fearlessly serve the people.

"JOHN STRANGE"

The Truth About Benzoate of Soda

President Remsen, of Johns Hopkins University, after reading the following editorial in the Denver POST of August 23, declared it to be the most accurate and clear exposition of the entire benzoate of soda situation he had ever seen in print:

A NEEDLESS SCARE

(By HUGH O'NEIL, Editorial Writer.)

As many people have been needlessly scared by loose gossip and clever advertising about the danger of benzoate of soda as a food preservative, the POST publishes the following authoritative statement for their reassurance, and suggests an experiment by the convention of food and dairy commissioners, that should be enlightening to the public and to some, at least, of the commissioners.

Small quantities (one in one thousand) of benzoate of soda are used in certain canned and bottled foods. BECAUSE IT IS UNSAFE TO PACK AND MARKET THEM IN ANY OTHER WAY. Benzoate of soda is used as a preservative because experience and the overwhelming weight of accredited scientific opinion have proved and declared benzoate of soda to be harmless to the human system and inert in its effect upon the assimilative qualities of the food.

Benzoate of soda is better than vinegar and essential oils as a preservative, because vinegar and essential oils can be used in the "making over" of defective and decaying fruits and vegetables, while benzoate of soda can be put to no such use. And the fight against benzoate of soda is being made by firms said to be suspected of "making over" inferior material with oils and vinegar and by one Federal official enamored of his own theory.

Here are the facts:

In 1907, Dr. Harvey Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, made a series of experiments with the "poison squad" to ascertain the effect of benzoate of soda upon digestion, assimilation, and that physiological change called metabolism. The "squad" consisted of twelve men. The experiment lasted forty days. (The duration of that experiment should be remembered.) At the termination of the experiment, Dr. Wiley reported that: "The administration of benzoic acid, either as such or in the form of benzoate of soda, is highly objectionable and produces very serious disturbances in the metabolic functions, attended with injury to digestion and health." And thereupon Dr. Wiley sought to have the use of benzoate of soda in all canned and bottled foods prohibited under the Food and Drugs Act.

But, as the suggestion was sweeping, and only supported by the conclusion of one man, the Secretary of Agriculture, at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, appointed a board of consulting scientific experts to make independent laboratory investigations of the problem. That board consisted of five men, one of whom, Taylor, of the University of California, was absent in Europe, therefore could not participate in the investigations.

The experiments conducted by Professor Russell H. Chittenden, head of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, covered a period of one hundred and thirty days. The six men experimented upon were graduate students. Professor Chittenden was assisted by three other professors of the Scientific School. And, after a series of long and elaborate tests, Professor Chittenden reported that: "We are of opinion that sodium benzoate, in small and large doses, up to a maximum of four grains per day, is NO MORE PROVOCATIVE OF DISTURBANCES OF THE HUMAN ORGANISM THAN THE CORRESPONDING AMOUNT OF COMMON (TABLE) SALT."

Working quite independently of Chittenden, Professor John H. Long, of the Medical School of the Northwestern University, experimented on six men for a period of ninety days. He was assisted by medical specialists in dietetics, pathology, and bacteriology. And he reported that: "The health of the men has suffered no impairment from the use of benzoate of soda in the period of absorption."

Professor Christian A. Herter, of Columbia University, experimented on four men for one hundred and twenty days. He was assisted by fourteen specialists of the Medical School of the University. And he reported that: "None of the experimental subjects who submitted themselves to our observations derived any injurious effects therefrom." And the whole board of consulting scientific experts thereupon reported to the Secretary of Agriculture that: "Sodium benzoate in large doses (up to four grains per day), mixed with food, has not been found to exert any deleterious effect on the general health," and "the admixture of sodium benzoate with food in small or large does has not been found to injuriously affect or impair the quality or nutritive value of such food."

So that, against the individual opinion of the Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture (reached after forty days of personal research), are the combined opinions of three scientific physiologists of international reputation, who conducted experiments over a period of from ninety to one hundred and twenty days, assisted by nineteen specialists, working in at least two of the most completely equipped laboratories in the world.

Under those circumstances the harmlessness of benzoate of soda as a preservative for canned and bottled foods, which are not consumed immediately after opening, can well be accepted as proved, and the householder who sees "Benzoate of Soda one-tenth of one per cent." on his catsup bottle label can use that catsup with assurance. But there is another side of the question that should be settled while the food and dairy commissioners are sitting in Denver.

Certain firms are advertising that benzoate of soda can be used not only as a safe preservative, but to "make over" and disguise the character of unsuitable and decaying fruits and vegetables.

MAKE THIS EXPERIMENT.

Now the POST is advised that no such use can be made of benzoate of soda; and it asks the food commissioners to make this experiment, under the supervision of qualified scientists: Buy a lot of bruised and decaying tomatoes, so bruised and decaying that the condition will be obvious to sight and smell. Have them cooked in the presence of food commissioners. When they are sufficiently cooked, remove them from the fire and divide them into three portions. Leave one portion untreated, so that it will be shown that cooking alone will not disguise their condition. Treat another portion with benzoate of soda, to see that the benzoate of soda FAILS TO ALTER THE CHARACTER OF THE TOMATOES. Then treat the third portion with vinegar (a "simple condiment") and those other "simple condiments," the oils and spices that "mother used." And it will be shown that benzoate of soda CANNOT be used to disguise the character of unfit material, while the vinegar and spices that "mother used" CAN.

For housewives, who have been needlessly frightened, and all men who want to eat in comfort, we submit these facts and suggest this experiment to the food commissioners.

Dr. John H. Long, of the Northwestern University of Chicago, in his address the next day at the convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments, explained that such an experiment had been performed. Here is his statement:

"At the request of a large manufacturing firm, there "was sent to my laboratory a mass of rotten tomatoes with "which to make catsup. I meanwhile had gathered up "more rotten tomatoes apples, a few peaches, and some "bananas. These were allowed to rot further through four "or five days. Out of this about two gallons of catsup "were made. Some of it was preserved with vinegar and "spices, some with benzoate, and some left unmixed. The "odor and taste of the last were bad, that with the benzoate "showed essentially the same condition, while with the vinegar and spices a fair grade of commercial catsup was secured. A worse lot of raw material could not be imagined, "yet the inferiority in the one lot of product was completely "concealed by the use of vinegar and spices. Benzoate has "but little taste and no odor, and therefore it cannot conceal inferiority."

JEWS CELEBRATE NEW YEAR TODAY

With the first blast of the Jewish shofar, which is sounded in these modern times as often from the cornet as from the time honored ram's horn, every Jew, orthodox or unorthodox, will tonight gather for the annual celebration of the new year, 5670, at the Jewish Tabernacle in this city.

The celebration embraces seven days and lasts from the day of Rosh Hoshanah (new year) until Yom Kippur (the day of atonement.)

It matters little whether a Jew be good or bad during the celebration. He may be the worst sort of Hebrew according to a strict interpretation of religious rite, but this is the occasion on which he rebuilds anew his bonds of allegiance to the church and saves himself from a total breaking away from the faith of his fathers.

Throughout the week of new year every Jewish church in La Crosse will hold special services, and Jews from all parts of the country will return to worship in the temples of their parents, for, according to the Bible, this is the time that "will bring back the children to the parents and turn the hearts of the parents toward the children."

The celebration is one of the most ancient in Hebrew history, dating back to the time of Moses. The Book of Leviticus tells of the celebration having been ordered direct from the mouth of God through Moses to the children of Israel. The symbolical meaning of the day of atonement which closes the celebration is that it foretells the final day of atonement.

According to Rabbi M. Reiman, Jewish Congregation, 414 North Eleventh street, La Crosse, it is the most solemn celebration in the Jewish ritual, as it has the widest appeal to all classes and conditions of Jews.

Elaborate programs for the celebration of the seven days have been arranged.

MR. SPRECKLES QUITS REFORMERS' LEAGUE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Charging that the Good Government league here has fallen "into the hands of its enemies" Rudolph Spreckels, financial backer of the so-called graft prosecution, issued a statement today explaining why he had withdrawn from membership in the league.

"I could not stay in the league and six months later have people say 'See what you have given us; the league nominee are McNab men.'"

Mr. McNab is commonly known as the Herrin of the democratic party. Herrin is the Southern Pacific machine's political boss of California.

FINE MATERIAL AT COMMAND OF COACH

High School Will Have a Championship Football Team This Season

MANY OLD MENON THE LIST

Fitch Shaw Will Be Captain and Quarterback, and Others Are Up in Their Studies

With the second week of school at hand the candidates for the La Crosse high school football team seem to be more interested and instead of decreasing in numbers after the first few nights of school, which has been true in former years, new faces are appearing daily. In spite of the threatening weather of last night three full teams appeared on the school campus. With a majority of the old material still in school and with the new men La Crosse's chances for a championship team were never brighter.

Fitch Shaw, last year's star end and quarter back, is again at quarter back, and if he repeats his work of last year the team will not be weak in this position. Shaw will captain the team this year and will have charge while the squad is in action on the gridiron. Ben Brindley, Fred Collins, Ian Tiedeman, Harold Davis have returned to school and are now trying for positions. Tiedeman and Ray have been working on punts the last few nights.

Several men, ineligible last fall, are now up in their studies and if they continue to keep their work up to the required standard the squad will be greatly strengthened. Eugene Hundredmark, Ray Keeler, Walter Shirley and Ervin Chamberlain all excellent players make up the latter class. Besides these men Coach Doseff will be able to pick men from the following list, George Walker, Rudolph Schlabach, Al Bellerue, Robert Ray, Ed. Stavrum, Arthur Hayes, Karl Schweizer, Robert Sidensol, George Davidson, Earl Locke, Charles Hyde, Odin Strum, Harry Gatterdam, Norman Kelley and Howard Hundredmark.

The work so far has consisted mostly of signal practice and the learning of a few plays. Sometime during the present week the scrimmage work will be begun and it will be then the coach will have his first opportunity to get a line on the individual players.

river. As revised and passed the bill cut the appropriation to $4,500 and provided the fish should be deposited in the Mississippi river or in other running streams of Wisconsin. The intention of the fathers of the bill was that the game wardens along the state line should hire fishermen in their respective localities to seine the sloughs with which they would be thoroughly familiar and thereby carry out the intent to rescue land locked fish. The wardens would vary crews according to locality and thereby the appropriation would be paid into the hands of the fishermen who were providing the money by paying seining licenses. It would also benefit the fishermen as well as the sportsmen, as it placed the fish back into the river to be seed for their future livelihood. Thus, thought the promoters of the idea, the fishermen would enter into the pirit of the thing as well as receive benefit financially for their labors.

Instead of this plan working out, as provided in the bill, claims Mr. Starr, Governor Davidson, probably through a misunderstanding of conditions, turned this money over to Fish Commissioner "Jim" Nevins, who already had a $50,000 appropriation for his department. This money, therefore, is now being used to further shipments of bass fry out of the state instead of fostering them here.

Wants Money Restored.

One of Mr. Starr's intentions in the matter is to secure the co-operation of Governor Davidson to have the appropriation of $4,500 transferred into the hands of the game wardens to be used as provided, and he expects to make the success of the work the basis for making a final call for $20,000 per year for this work, thus enabling the department to patrol the entire state line.

According to Mr. Starr the steamer Curlew has been ousted from the vicinity of Cassville and other southern waters. At one time the government crew was found seining from bars in the open river, and through the efforts of Mr. Starr and Warden Storrs former Governor La Follette rescinded the steamer's permit to seine and ordered their equipment confiscated if they were caught in the act. The permit was withdrawn, but Governor Davidson since issued a new one. The Curlew, says Mr. Starr, is the only boat of its kind in the United States, and politically influential people in all parts of the country are depending upon this little steamer to take from the Mississippi fish to stock private ponds and out of the way streams while the Mississippi river is being combed of its bass which has made its fishing famous.

Mr. Starr is now in correspondence with various officials and expects local sportsmen to become interested in the fight and come to his assistance in the campaign to preserve Mississippi river fish for the Mississippi.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

From Shoulder to Shoulder. Scratched till Blood Ran Cured by Cuticura.

"My son's back was raw from shoulder to shoulder and the width of your hand. I really did not think he ever would be cured. He would scratch until the blood would run and he was like a raw piece of meat. I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1909."

SUPERINTENDENT FAINTS WITH PAIN

George H. Shaw Runs the Wrecker to Scene of Derailment and Is Struck by Brake

While running the wrecking car to the corner of Seventh and Market streets last night, where a street car had jumped the tracks, Superintendent George H. Shaw of the La Crosse City Railway company, was struck on the left arm by he brake handle of the car and painfully injured.

The accident occurred at about 11 o'clock. Mr. Shaw took out the wrecker himself so as to get to the scene of the derailment at once. He reached the car which was off the track sooner than he expected and set his brake hard so as to avoid striking it. The brake caught for a second but just as he let go of the handle, the catch which holds the brake let go, throwing the handle backward with great force.

The skin was broken by the force of the blow and the injured member began to swell immediately. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital by the crew of the Market street car, after he had fainted several times. Here it was found that no bones were broken, and the injury was dressed. Mr. Shaw was able to be at the barns this morning.

CAR JUMPS TRACK

An open street car jumped the tracks at Fourth and Pearl streets shortly after noon today and made a dash towards the curb but was stopped before any damage was done. There were several people on the car at the time but no one was hurt. Another car was secured from the power house and in a few minutes the car had been pulled back on the rails and traffic resumed.

BOOM IN BROOM CORN A RECORD

Highest Yet, Says August Miller, and Brooms Will Advance Higher

BROOM CORN $150 PER TON

Astonishing Figures Preclude Decrease and the Manufacturer Sees Many Failures

During the last week broom corn, in the growing districts in Illinois, has increased greatly in price, taking such a rise as has hardly ever been chronicled in the history of that product. The increase it seems is due to the dry weather and in the entire broom corn districts of Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma the conditions are such that the corn is selling for $150 a ton. In some places it has been reported that the corn is being bought at $110 a ton but no verification of the story could be obtained.

August Miller, the local broom manufacturer, said today in an interview: "This is the highest price that I have ever heard of in the broom corn market. I only wish I could see one-half the profit for the manufacturers that the farmers are getting. Broom business is not good and a sudden jump of about $10 a ton in broom corn means that the ordinary 22 pound broom will be increased at least 50 cents a dozen. I look to see some big failures in the broom business during the next six months and time alone can now tell how the market will go. We buy but little of our corn in this vicinity and the poor condition of the market will affect this city as well as those in the corn growing districts. People expected that the price of brooms this fall would decrease greatly but there is now the prospect that the already high price will be increased."

CHILD WON'T TELL WHO SLEW BABES

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Forty-eight hours search by the police has failed to develop any tangible clew bearing on the identity of the man who shot Theresa Procopia and Ferdinando Infusino to death in a ravine in this city Sunday night and who shattered the arm of Fannie Infusino with a pistol ball.

Chief of Police Brophy is more convinced than ever that Fannie Infusino, the single survivor of the three children shot by the assassin can tell the name of the guilty person, but when asked today to repeat to Brophy the name of the murderer as she divulged it to Miss A. C. Gray, immediately after the discovery of the plight of the children in the ravine, Fannie denied she had indicated to Mrs. Gray the name of the murderer. The police are not greatly surprised for they are more than ever convinced that the shadow of the blackhand rests on the memories of the afflicted family and in fear of their own lives, they are preserving a silence which promises to prevent a solution of the case. Ercole Infusino, father of Ferdinand Infusino, the murdered boy, resents the imputation that he told his little daughter Fannie not to tell who did the shooting.

"It's a lie," said Infusino between sobs as he prepared for the funeral of his boy. "I never told the little girl such a thing. You tell the police that is not so."

Infusino's other daughter, aged 16, stood by during this conversation. To her father's indignant speech she added:

"Do you think the murderer is dearer to us than our own children, that we shield him?"

The two funerals were held today under a police guard.

ENTRIES FOR DOG SHOW END TONIGHT

President George F. Houser and Secretary Oscar Hulberg of the La Crosse Kennel club will be at the offices of Dr. Hauser in the Linker building this evening until 10 o'clock for the purpose of receiving entries to the Kennel Club's Dog Show which will be held in connection with the Inter-State fair here the last week of this month. Entries close tonight and none will be accepted after this date.

President Hauser wishes to impress upon dog owners that the club has arranged for expert dog men to care for the animals during the week of the show and that they will be protected from thieves and danger.

LA CROSSE CROWDS AT COUNTY FAIR

Three Trains Take Local People to West Salem Exposition This Morning

WEATHER IS IDEAL TODAY

(By Staff Correspondent)

WEST SALEM, Wis., Sept. 15.—The second day at the La Crosse county fair made up for all that was missing yesterday when a downpour of rain made it look as though there was no fair at all. The weather was ideal and a large crowd was on the grounds all day long. The association workmen were at work all the morning fixing up the grounds and dragging the track ready for this afternoon's races which promise to be fast.

La Crosse people were much in evidence. There was an extra car attached to the early Northwestern train and on the 11 o'clock Milwaukee and noon Northwestern trains large delegations of La Crosse people came, all equipped with flaring La Crosse badges.

Departments Filled

All of the departments are well filled, and the stock is especially fine. The poultry department has a good exhibit and Judge E. H. Hoffman today started the work of judging the feathered stock.

There is an excellent "pike," all kinds of games and tents and side shows and a visitor must have a very cold heart who cannot have a good time at the West Salem fair.

In the Expo Building

There are a number of La Crosse exhibits in the exposition building, which is well stocked with interesting shows and exhibits. The fruit show is one of the best features here while the corn contest, the first ever held by the association is an interesting feature. Prizes aggregating $120 are offered.

There are many old settlers on the ground who are taking this opportunity for a reunion and all in all it is a jolly crowd which is helping to make "La Crosse Day" the biggest of the fair.

FENCE ROW GETS INTO THE COURTS

Caroline Brorson, residing on the North side near a number of lots owned by the C. B. & Q. Railway company, today swore out a warrant against Al W. McDonald, alleging that he has appropriated to his own use lumber belonging to her to the value of two dollars.

The entire trouble is over a fence. It is said that the woman has been using the land of the railway company for her garden and that she has been keeping up the fence around the patch. She claims that whenever defendant needs a board or a piece of lumber he removes it from this fence.

EARL COOK PLEADS GUILTY; IS FINED

Earl Cook of Onalaska, saloon keeper who is charged with selling liquor to minors, made a motion in circuit court today to be allowed to change his plea from not guilty to guilty. The court accepted his plea and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs amounting to $12 by Judge Higbee.

Ed. Benson who pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge in county court, some time ago and was sentenced by Judge Brindley, has retained attorneys and his motion today to change his plea to not guilty was granted by the court. Benson claims that he did not at the time of making his plea understand the nature of the charge against him and that he had no counsel.

In the matter of Isaac Schlotchiver against James Thomason a motion was brought to change attorneys. Messrs Winter and Kleeber represented Thomason at the previous action, and he has now retained Attorneys Raymond and Raymond. The case is a damage suit for alleged slander, the plaintiff claiming that the defendant accused him of the theft of a stove.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc., are troubles which affect the skin, their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle. These affections are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood. Such impurities inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected. This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection. It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed. This S. S. S. will do. It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acid of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease. Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean; they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood. S. S. S. restores to the thin, acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The stock market opened active and strong. Reading was again the prominent feature, opening up 1 1-8. Pennsylvania crossed 144. Other important railroad stocks showed proportionate gains, New York Central advancing 7-8. Union Pacific to some extent shares in the advance but later lost all on speculative liquidation. Steel common rose 3-4. At the end of the first fifteen minutes the market was generally strong and active.

11 a. m.—The broadening of the market became more pronounced with the beginning of business today, decided activity being displayed all over the room, with nearly everything traded in showing a substantial advance. Reading advanced to 167 against 164 1-4 at yesterday's close. Steel common advanced to above 80.

Government bonds unchanged; others strong.

Noon—The market all through the forenoon continued extremely active but in the last half of that period there were some moderate recessions. Pennsylvania rose to 144 3-4, the highest at which that stock has sold since the 1907 panic. New York Central advanced 2 3-4 in all but before midday lost a small part of that gain.

Chicago Produce

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Cheese—Twins 14 3-4 to 15; Young Americas 16.

SEVERAL INJURED BY FALLING PANE

VIROQUA, Wis., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—While Chris Peterson, assisted by several men, was putting in a new plate glass window at Mrs. Lawrence Bagley's millinery store, the glass suddenly broke in pieces. It was not dropped, but it is thought to have been too highly tempered to stand the strain. Herb Morrison had shoulder and head badly cut. Chris Peterson was hurt in the back and F. W. Baker had his head and hand cut. It was necessary to take eight stitches in the scalp wound of Mr. Baker and the others had injuries almost as serious. Gilbert Burkhart and Tom May, who were also assisting in raising the glass, escaped unhurt.

The loss will be that of an insurance company, who were replacing a cracked pane. The milliners were very anxious to have the new pane in, as they needed the display window very much. Now two storm windows are in and the rest is boarded up.

TAFT COMMITTEE MEETING TOMORROW

The Taft reception committee will hold a final meeting at the La Crosse club tomorrow afternoon at which final details for the reception of the president will be completed. There will be no material change in the plans heretofore announced, only that the committee will greet the president here instead of going to Tomah to board the train as was originally planned.

OPENING OF THE STANDING ROCK AND CHEYENNE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATIONS

Registration at Mobridge, Lemmon or Aberdeen, S. D., October 4 to 23

The opening of the Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Indian Reservations in South Dakota and North Dakota in October will give about ten thousand people 160 acres of fertile farming lands for a small sum per acre. The government has appraised these lands at 50 cents to $6 per acre.

If you intend to engage in farming or are now farming and wish to change your location, why not register for one of these farms. You may be successful in the drawing for these lands.

Aberdeen, South Dakota, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and Mobridge and Lemmon, South Dakota, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway, are points of registration. You can register any day from October 4 to 23. The drawing will take place at Aberdeen on October 26.

The land in the counties to the east of these reservations now sells at $25 to $30 per acre.

This land opening will also give you a splendid opportunity to see the wonderful country opened through construction of the new line to the Pacific Coast, at small additional cost over your railroad fare to points of registration.

Folders regarding this land opening and the country along the new line in South Dakota, North Dakota and Montana, free. F. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry., Chicago.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

State of Wisconsin, County Court, La Crosse County, ss.—In Probate.

Notice is hereby given that at a special term of the County Court, to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in the City of La Crosse, in said County, on the 3rd Tuesday, being the 19th day of October, A. D. 1909, at ten o'clock A. M., the following matter will be heard and considered:

The application of Margaret James, administratrix of the estate of David D. James, late of the village of Bangor, in said county of La Crosse, deceased, for the adjustment, settlement and allowance of her final account as such administratrix and for the assignment of the residue of the estate of said deceased to such persons as are entitled to the same.

By order of the Court,
JOHN BRINDLEY,
County Judge.

Basement Opening

TOMORROW, THURSDAY, is the date set for the opening of our New Basement Salesroom. Our business has grown so rapidly that we were compelled to have more space—so we fitted up the basement. You'll be surprised at the result. This room is so light and airy and a convenient new stairs has been built at great expense, offering easy access from both aisles. We have made this our Bedding Department and will carry the largest line of all things that pertain to bed comfort to be found in any store in this entire section not excluding the twin cities. WISCONSIN NEWS

GIRL SAYS LICENSE IS ALL A JOKE

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 15.—Although he had apparently obtained the permission of the girl and had also secured a marriage license, Henry Stewart, an employe in the Soo line shops at North Fond du Lac, will not be married—that is at least not to the girl of his present choice.

It is said that Mr. Stewart called upon Miss Yates and asked to see her privately. Mr. Stewart is said to have asked her to marry him, while in the presence of several other persons.

Miss Yates, it is said, thought that Mr. Stewart was joking and laughing, she is alleged to have said, "of course, I will marry you."

Mr. Stewart took the matter seriously as he came to this city and secured a marriage license from County Clerk A. S. Wilkinson last Friday, according to the records in the clerk's office.

After securing the license it is said Mr. Stewart also engaged the minister to marry him and Miss Yates and was then surprised to find that the woman had thought the whole matter was a joke.

EPIDEMIC CLOSES GANTSBURG SCHOOLS

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Sept. 15.—An epidemic of paralytic diphtheria has broken out in the village of Grantsburg and vicinity, four cases having been found in the family of G. R. Wedin.

The village schools were ordered closed for a week and longer should it be found necessary.

STORM DAMAGE GREAT

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 15.—Several thousand dollars' damage to property was done by the electrical storm Monday night. In the town of Lawrence three barns and one house was struck. Two horses and chickens and pigs burned. In this city telephone communication was interrupted and minor damage done. Oconto also reports considerable havoc by the storm.

WAUPACA, Wis., Sept. 15.—The heaviest electrical storm of the season passed over here Monday night. The large barn of Hans Olson, four miles north of this city, was struck by lightning and burned, together with 900 bushels of grain. A number of other small fires were reported and many telephones were burned out. A heavy downpour of rain followed, badly washing country roads.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS FOR GAME WARDENS

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 15.—There will be a civil service examination on Oct. 2. There seems to be every disposition on the part of the chief game warden to co-operate with the civil service commission in upbuilding his department.

OVERCOME BY HEAT IN MILWAUKEE; DIES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 15.—An unknown man, thought to be an employe of the Johns-Manville company, was found overcome by the heat in an unconscious condition near the company's plant in the Menomonee valley at 7 o'clock last night and taken to the Emergency hospital, where he died at 10:40.

REPLICA OF THE CLERMONT SAILS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The veil of a hundred years lifted yesterday and from down the waters of the Kill Von Kull steamed a wraith of the past century, a replica of "Robert Fulton's folly" the little steamer Clermont, which is to take a leading part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration the latter part of this month.

The Clermont steamed slowly, exactly as did her predecessor. Not more than five miles an hour could she make for the engines in the 1909 Clermont as are near as possible a duplicate of the engines in the original. They take up half the boat. The boiler is upright and there are two big and two little cog wheels. The smaller cog wheels are the balance wheels on the outside of the boat which were intended to prevent the paddlewheels from being stopped in the "center."

Her small unprotected paddlewheels attracted attention. They had eight blades compared to the hundred or more in her modern progeny.

In the Hudson-Fulton celebration she will be manned by a crew dressed exactly as the crew of the first Clermont and her passengers will be attired as the passengers of a century ago.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

PRIEST IS TARGET FOR ANCIENT EGGS

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 15.—The Rev. Father Andrew Ricek of the St. Josephate Independent Polish Catholic church was made the target for a volley of eggs and gravel as he was leaving the St. Peter and St. Paul's church, where he had said mass.

The attack on the priest was the result of internal strife in the congregation of St. Peter and St. Paul's church. It is said that a number of families in that congregation are in favor of breaking away from the authority of the Duluth diocese.

This element has succeeded in getting enough men on the committee in charge of the church to dictate its policies, took possession and asked Father Ricek to preach the sermon.

The trouble arose from the fact that Father Ricek is the head of the St. Josephate church, which has already broken away from the authority of the bishop.

WOMEN TO SHARE IN $183,000,000

KENMARE, N. D., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Jessie Skinner and sister, Miss Hulda E. Dover of this city have received notice that they are heirs jointly with thirty-eight others to a $183,000,000 estate in Germany. In 1810 their great-grandmother, then Mary Hess, was disinherited by her father, the disinheritance extending into the third generation, although her share of the estate was set aside to be distributed to the heirs at the end of 100 years.

There are now forty heirs, and Mrs. Skinner and Miss Dover each come in for their share.

SORORITY GIRLS MUST SIGN NEW PLEDGE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 15.—Girls at the East high school who are or who have been members of the prohibited Delta Psi Delta sorority will tomorrow be called upon to sign the new pledges prepared by Principal William F. Webster.

These pledges not only forswear all participation in the affairs of the society, but require from parents a promise that they will support the efforts of the school authorities to put down secret societies.

TOOTHACHE DRIVES HIM TO ROB POOR

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 15.—Accused of robbing the poor box at a local church because his teeth ached, B. H. Holl is under arrest here today. Holl admitted to the police that he took $13 from the box.

"That money was contributed to help the poor," he said, "and say did you ever have two aching teeth? I simply had to have money for the dentist."

Regret for the past is efficacious only when it influences the future.

Health and Beauty Secrets

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

A. L.: Treat canker in the mouth with pure alum, but rinse well from the teeth as it affects the enamel.

H. S.: For a quick drying home shampoo simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teacupful hot water. Pour on the hair and rub well. Canthrox makes a rich and plentiful lather that thoroughly cleans the scalp, removes dandruff, relieves itching and irritation and leaves the hair soft, bright and fluffy. Every article mentioned in my recipes is carried in stock by druggists, and your druggist will get canthrox for you if he cares to be accommodating.

Hattie C.: It may be a cruel way to put it, but it is only truth to say that competition is keen among women and she who is most attractive in appearance most often wins the best husband and home. It is your duty to look your prettiest. The most important step in securing a good complexion is to purify your blood. Get from your druggist 1 ounce of kardene and one-half pint of alcohol. Put these in a quart measure. This makes a splendid blood tonic and liver invigorator and is a good remedy for pimples, blotches, sallow complexion, scrofula and all eruptions of the skin. Take 1 tablespoonful five minutes before meals and before retiring and it will put your blood in good condition for winter.

R. F. D.: To get rid of that "shiny," greasy look that troubles you, use this spurmax lotion, and it will give the skin a clear, fresh and youthful appearance. Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spurmax, dissolve it in a half-pint of warm water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. If applied in the morning your complexion will not need retouching the whole day long. It is a true beautifier and is widely used in preference to powder.

Laura S.: Always rub gently in massaging, for if you rub hard you do more harm than good. To make a good, greaseless face cream jelly that is excellent for massaging and any purpose for which ordinary face cream is used, get from your druggist 1 ounce of almozoin and dissolve it in a half-pint of cold water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand. If too thick thin by adding more water until you have the desired consistency. As this cream jelly contains no oils or fats it can be used without fear of causing hair to grow. It is unexcelled as a cleanser, for when applied it causes the dirt and grime to roll off and the pores are really cleared. Almozoin tends to make large pores small and prevents blackheads. It also removes freckles and tan and keeps the skin moist, smooth and pliable.

Wm. G.: To rid yourself of superfluous fat get from your druggist 4 ounces of parnotis, take it home and dissolve it in one pint of hot water. Take 1 tablespoonful three times a day, before meals.

Estelle: To make your dull and lifeless eyes bright, clear and sparkling use a few drops of eye tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This eye tonic will not smart or burn, but will rest, sooth and strengthen your eyes.

Ada R.: Dandruff and split hairs are signs that the scalp needs nourishment. Shampoo the hair twice a month with canthrox. Cut off all ends of split hairs. To nourish the hair roots and keep scalp in healthy condition use once or twice a week a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinol in a half-pint of alcohol and adding half-pint of cold water. Rub into scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed. This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuriant and glossy.

Mrs. N.: A small bag of salt, well heated and covered with flannel, gives relief when applied to an aching ear.
